AN OFFICIAL IS SHOT DOWN BY GANGSTERS

Assistant State's Attorney William H. McSwiggin Target For Rain Of Machine Gun Bullets--Two Others Are Killed--Suspects Arrested.

CHICAGO, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—The machine gun assassination last night of Assistant State's Attorney William McSwiggin and two saloonkeepers, known to be in the beer business, was today still unsolved.

Corner Oscar Wolff retained John J. Healy, a former state's attorney and long a legal and political associate of United States Senator Charles S. Deneen, to act as his legal adviser at the inquest tomorrow. State's Attorney Crowe's faction of the republican party recently at the primaries defeated many of the Deneen county candidates, of whom Coroner Wolff was one.

HOUSE APPROVES DRASTIC CHANGES IN ENFORCEMENT

Bill Revises Treasury's Dry Law Machinery By Creating New Bureau.

Democrat Leader Charges Measure Merely a Means Of Raising Salaries.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(By the Associated Press)—By a vote of 196 to 4, the house Tuesday passed an administration bill proposing drastic revision of the dry law enforcement machinery in the treasury, including the creation of a bureau of prohibition.

The measure, which now goes to the senate, was approved after an amendment by Representative LaGuardia, progressive-socialist, New York, to legalize the sale of 2.75 per cent beer had been thrown out on a point of order.

The four votes against the bill were cast by Representative Auf Der Heid, New Jersey, and Black, Cullen and Somers, New York, all democrats.

The proposal weathered nearly a dozen amendments and was passed as reported by the ways and means committee to which it was sent by the treasury.

It could give legal sanction to the reorganization in the prohibition unit effected last August by Secretary Mellon and besides the prohibition bureau would create a bureau of customs. The new bureaus will be headed by commissioners appointed by secretary of the treasury.

No United Opposition.

Wet members of the house offered no formidable opposition, a number supporting the bill on the ground that it would make prohibition enforcement more drastic, thus bringing about increased demand for modification. Representative Hill, republican, Maryland, recognized wet leader in the house, voted for it.

Urging passage of the bill, Representative Crampton, republican, Michigan, a dry leader, endorsed the prohibition administration under Assistant Secretary Andrews of the treasury. He asserted Andrews had shown "zeal and success" in enforcing the dry law, adding "don't give a man the hardest job in the United States and then criticize him."

After Mr. LaGuardia had accused drys of acting in bad faith because they would not accept another amendment by him, Crampton asserted he "did not care for a lecture" from either recent converts to prohibition or "those who are not converts at all."

LaGuardia's other amendment would have forbidden prohibition unit employes to receive any salary other than that from the government, and was aimed chiefly at F. C. Baird, who testified before the senate prohibition committee that while dry law administrator at Pittsburgh he continued to receive a salary of $12,600 annually as a railroad official. The amendment was rejected on a point of order.

Claim Move to Boost Pay.

Both Mr. Hill and Representative Garner of Texas, ranking democrat, on the ways and means committee, charged that the bill was nothing more than a move to raise salaries in the prohibition unit.

"It will not add one single arrest," Garner said, "nor will one additional dollar be collected by it; but Wheeler (Wayne B. Wheeler of the Anti-Saloon league), Crampton and Andrews are for it so we are for it, even myself."

Representative Oliver, democrat, New York, said the prohibition chief should be either the president or a cabinet officer. He contended that while the drys held the prohibition law to be paramount they were willing to "smother" the prohibition director in a commissioner's office in the treasury.

Ledwith Talks to Bankers of County

John Ledwith, a Lincoln attorney, told the Lancaster Bankers' association at its regular meeting Tuesday evening that bankers are members of a distinguished profession but it would be well for them and their clients if they practiced that profession only. Do not, he warned them, advise customers on the precepts of law or the value of real estate.

The whole tangle of the old Lincoln hotel litigation resulted when persons admittedly clever in their own line of work branched out into other fields, he said. Real estate men and others attempted to run a hotel and the result was a mixup that lasted for years.

He explained other instances in which mixing professions has had sad results. One banker, he said, advised a man on making a will, and the will was broken. Another arranged with a depositor to pay an account to the depositor's wife after he had died, but the arrangement did not hold good in court.

At a business meeting which followed Mr. Ledwith's address, reports were made and there was some discussion of charging for overdrafts.

How Volcanoes Work. Rubber on the Canal? Your Interesting Pancreas New Things, New Surprises.

By Arthur Brisbane

International News Reel shows the first pictures of Mauna Loa's latest great eruption. Smoke and flame rise slowly from flowing fields of lava, that soon harden into smooth and apparently hopeless rock.

Men now living will never see anything grow there, and the ancients of course thought that land thus formed was cursed forever. But time and weather break up the rock, earth forms slowly through the centuries. The earth worms do their marvelous work, grinding up the soil into tiny particles, producing fertility. Plants and grass grow. Cattle eat the grass, man eats the ox instead of wasting time digesting plants. He writes a good book, and humanity moves a little further upward—thanks to the old volcano, throwing up fertilizing treasure from inside the earth.

E. J. Evans of San Francisco says the United States should end its worries about crude rubber by planting rubber trees along both sides of the Panama canal (on two strips 50 miles long, 10 miles wide) as a government enterprise.

The government won't do it because the administration does not believe in having government do anything that private enterprise can do. European nations have been compelled to outgrow that primitive notion dating from the time of Romulus and Remus, and that is why their government enterprises are worrying our industries.

This writer lacks information as to soil qualities along the Panama canal. But there are in Mexico unlimited opportunities for rubber growing, ideal soil, plenty of labor. Those bosom friends, Ford and Firestone, and the other tiremakers, need rubber. Why don't they try it?

"Independence" today has a wider meaning than in Thomas Jefferson's time.

Diabetes that kills men, begins by destroying the pancreas.

Prof. Bensley of Chicago university has succeeded in destroying and then restoring the pancreas of a rabbit.

Diabetes has been successfully fought, recently, by the use of insulin, a pancreatic extract. Now science, knowing that the pancreas after severe injury can restore itself by growing new tissues, as certain lizards grow a new tail, hopes to fight diabetes in a new way.

All this will shock and disturb those who believe that there is no such thing as disease, and that all you need do is to deny its reality. But it may cure diabetes that kills millions and can't be helped by amiable theorizing. And that is the important thing.

Mayor Dever of Chicago tells the senate that prohibition can be enforced, but it would mean "forcing the law down the throats of an unwilling and objecting people."

That is not the easiest way to deal with any people, although Lord Northcliffe did call Americans "very submissive." It has always been hard, in all countries, to force laws down people's throats. The king of France could not make his subjects stop wearing shoes with ridiculously long toes, sometimes so long they had to be tied to the knee. The people wanted those long toes.

In America we are trying to keep bootleg liquor out of high schools. In Japan they are trying, in their high schools, to root out communism. From belief in the old mikados, sons of heaven, to the theories of Karl Marx and Lenin is a long jump. But many Japanese have made it.

The Japanese are trying what other nations have found to be the wrong way, namely, the American antievolution method. We decided, or our fundamentalists did, that no school child should ever hear anything about evolution and in consequence 115,000,000 Americans heard much about it.

No high school student in Japan may study social science. College and university students may study the abhorred science under professors carefully chosen. They will be chosen, presumably, among those that believe everything is perfect with the mikado at the top, capital in the middle, and 98 per cent of the population at the bottom—nowhere.

For instance, when prohibition went into the constitution, many that owned vineyards for producing wine in California, tore up their vines, and planted other things.

They were then selling their grapes for $20 to $30 a ton, if they got a good price. Convinced that prohibition would end the demand for wine grapes, they turned to something else.

A few, wiser, kept their vineyards and now sell grapes at from $200 to $400 a ton. It is legal of course to sell grapes, although prohibitionists may find it necessary to change that. It is also legal to sell grape juice, before the laws of nature begin working and put "a kick" in it. What happens after the grapes or the grape juice are distributed, each can guess for himself.

General Level Of Farm Prices Was Lower Last Year

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—The general level of farm produce prices declined 7 points in the last year, the agriculture department estimated Tuesday.

Using the five year pre-war period, 1909 to 1914, as a base of 100, it said the index for this month was 140, the same as March, compared with 147, for April, 1925.

Large decreases for the year in prices of feed grains, cotton and cotton seed and unclassified commodities were only partially offset by increases in fruits and vegetables.

Allows Increased Amount Securities

At the request of the Northwestern Public Service Co., which owns and operates utility properties at North Platte and Columbus, and also has extensive holdings in South Dakota, the railway commission has modified its recent order by allowing an increased amount of securities to be issued against the properties in this state.

It now sanctions the issuance of $700,000 in 6 per cent bonds, to be negotiated at 92 cents on the dollar, and $320,000 of 7 per cent preferred stock on a basis of 98.

The commission has previously found the total value of the Nebraska properties to be $857,000. It now allows 7 1-2 per cent of material and labor construction costs as an engineering item, which raises the total to $924,000.

PAVE WAY FOR REORGANIZATION ST. PAUL ROAD

Federal Judge Enters Foreclosure Decree On $750,000,000 Property.

Sale to Be At Butte, Mont.; Decision Protested By Bond Holders.

CHICAGO, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—The way was paved Tuesday for reorganization of the $750,000,000 Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway, the largest property ever to figure in a receivership, when Judge James H. Wilkerson in Federal District court entered a decree of foreclosure and sale.

He refrained from setting a date, fixing a price, or from mentioning any of the various plans of reorganization which have been advanced.

It was provided that the sale should be held at the main entrance of the St. Paul station at Butte, Mont.

The decree, consisting of 300 printed pages, was entered over the protest of counsel for the holders of the $16,000,000 of the railroad's junior bonds, who were in court on another phase of the receivership, and of Daniel H. Grady, special counsel for Herman L. Ekern, attorney general for Wisconsin, in which state the property is incorporated.

Master is Named.

Judge Wilkerson named as master in chancery to administrate the affairs of the road Herbert Lundahl, who has been acting as a master of chancery in hearing claims against the road for almost a year. The court directed that the master advertise the property for sale in the newspapers printed in Chicago, Marquette, Mich.; Minneapolis, Butte, Mont.; Seattle, Wash., and New York.

The decree of foreclosure was entered upon the petition of the Guaranty Trust Co. of New York and the United States Mortgage Co., representing the principal creditors.

As special master, Lundahl will have power under the decree to arrange details of the sale and to adjourn it from time to time as he sees fit, although Judge Wilkerson himself will set the original date. Bidders for the property must state to the master whether they represent any corporation planning to obtain control of the property to reorganize it and if so they must file with him a complete statement of the reorganization plan.

Immediate Opposition.

The original petition for receivership was filed March 18, last, and it barely had been offered when some of the security holders raised the cry that the step had been taken unnecessarily at the dictation of two banking firms, and it later was charged before the interstate commerce commission that the step represented collusion between the bankers and the railroad's board of directors.

In an order separate from the foreclosure decree Judge Wilkerson directed the receivers for the St. Paul to continue payments of interest upon bonds of the Chicago, Terre Haute & Eastern and the Chicago, Milwaukee & Gary short lines, pending completion of a hearing now in progress to determine whether the subsidiaries were wisely and legally acquired.

It was indicated that there would be another postponement upon the hearing concerning the bond interest payments before the final decision.

The foreclosure decree was formally moved more than three weeks ago and taken under advisement by Judge Wilkerson.

Show Income Tax Receipts Greater Though Rate Less

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—Income tax collections for March under the new revenue law were $504,141,356, or $65,412,739 more than for March of last year, when the higher rates were in effect.

The figures, made public Tuesday by the internal revenue bureau, include payments made March 15, the first regular receiving date for taxes to be paid this year. They showed New York with the largest collection; Florida with the greatest proportionate increase, and seven states and Hawaii with lower returns than last year. States which showed declines were Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Alabama, Georgia New Mexico and Oregon.

The income tax collections in Nebraska for March, 1925, and 1926: $1,493,420 and $1,615,799 respectively.

THREE MORE DEBTS SETTLED

Senate Approves Agreements With Latvia, Esthonia and Rumania.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(By the Associated Press)—Approving the war debt settlements with Latvia, Esthonia and Rumania in rapid succession, the senate Tuesday cleared its calendar of all the refunding agreements except that with Czecho-Slovakia, which was to be taken up today.

Meanwhile the American and French commissions marked time awaiting further word from Paris before renewing their negotiations. The Americans met for fifteen minutes and then decided to adjourn until Ambassador Berenger gives notice that his government has new proposals to offer for those in the original offer found unacceptable to the American committee.

The three settlements ratified by the senate Tuesday involve a total $64,150,000 and were put through by even more overwhelming majorities than was the Belgium settlement Monday and the Italian agreement last week. The Latvian settlement was approved 50 to 18 and the other two by the same margin 51 to 16.

The chief fight was on the Latvia agreement involving only $5,177,000 and interest at 3 per cent for the first ten years and 3 1-3 per cent thereafter. Senators Reed, democrat, Missouri, and Howell, republican, Nebraska, again led the fight.

Characterizing the Latvia settlement as not "only wasteful, but idiotic," Senator Reed predicted that long before the end of the sixty-two years, over which payments are spread, Latvia again will have been absorbed by Russia and the United States will lose a part of the payments.

Senator Howell contended that all of the agreements were in the nature of cancellations of the principals of the debts and again argued that the debt commission was saddling a burden on the American taxpayers and relieving those of the debtor nations.

Renewing his charge that the senate machinery was well oiled for the approval of all of the settlements, Senator Reed called attention that on a quorum call two senators came into the chamber and voted "aye," assuming that the roll call was on one of the settlements.

Academy Of Science To Hold Meetings This Week

The forty-fourth annual meeting of the Nebraska academy of sciences will open at Crete today and continue through Saturday morning. Several programs and business meetings are scheduled for each day.

The most distinguished visitor will be Dr. E. S. Hopkins of the University of Illinois, who will lecture at the First Christian church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The New Method of the Dana Earth Group, Doctor Hopkins discovered a new element which he named "illinium" after the university and which created a sensation in scientific circles. This is the first element to be discovered in this country all others having been discovered by European scientists.

The public is invited to attend the meetings. Those in charge have attempted to keep the discussions as non-technical as possible.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Selections for contestants in the Wesleyan scholarship contests have been announced for several subjects. Helen Yost and Ina Marie Smith will represent Lincoln high in the Latin contest. Raymond Boettger, Ken Tucker, and Fredwin Lesser are those entered in the physics contest. Annie McMillen and Hamilton Hurlbut are entered in the extemporaneous speaking contest. Neora Kirk and Richard Jewett will contest in music and modern problems. The contest will be held Friday morning. Final events will take place in the afternoon.

It was decided by lot at a meeting of the Forensic league, Saturday, that Lincoln high school will be represented in the debate with Omaha Central high school by Ruth Schmidt and Miss Elsie Lou Peterson. The question will be: Resolved, that the United States should cancel the debts owed to it by the European countries. Miss Lillian Storey is the alternate. Miss Elsie E. Yates and Miss Bessie Brown will act as general chairmen of all events of the affair.

Harriet Pennington will be circulation manager of the Lincoln Journalism week issue of the Daily Nebraskan, which will be published by the journalism department of the University of Nebraska.

Your Smile

will show dazzling clear teeth in a few days if you do this

This simple NEW method removes the stubborn film that hides the natural beauty of your teeth and imperils healthy gums

Ten years ago dull and dingy teeth were seen on every side. Today they are becoming a rarity. Note the gleaming smiles you see now wherever your eyes turn.

Please don't believe your teeth are "different" just because they are naturally off color and dull. You can't trust that prediction in even a few days.

Modern science has discovered new methods in tooth and gum protection. Leading dentists advise them. In fairness to yourself, make the test offered here.

Do this—remove that dingy film; it invites ugly teeth and fosters gum disorders.

Run your tongue across your teeth, and you will feel a film.

That film is an enemy to your teeth and gums. You must remove it.

It clings to teeth, gets into crevices and stays. It absorbs discolorations and gives your teeth that cloudy look. Germs by the millions breed in it, and they, with tartar, are a chief cause of pyorrhea.

Tooth and gum troubles and decay now are traced largely to this film. Old-time methods could not successfully combat it. That's why tooth and gum troubles increased.

Note the difference in teeth and gums

A Pepsodent dental specialist has discovered two effective film combatants. They dissolve the film and remove it then from the gums.

Now when you see those dull film is removed—the clearness and the whiteness of your teeth—will amaze you.

• • •

That the world has turned away from dental science to this new method.

• • •

It will give you the whitest teeth you wonder how other people get. It will give you better protection against tooth and gum troubles.

A few days' use will prove its power beyond all doubt.

Mail the coupon. A 10 day tube will be sent you free. Use it three times daily—morning, evening, at bedtime—then note the remarkable difference in your teeth and gums.

CHAPTER V.

What has gone before: Carolita Menendez, a beautiful young Spanish girl, brought up in a South American convent, is travelling alone to Los Angeles at the command of her guardian whom she has never seen. During the last lap of her journey between Chicago and Los Angeles she wakes suddenly in the night and sees, clutching the curtains of the berth opposite, a white hand wearing a gorgeous and startling ruby. She steps into the aisle to investigate and meets Paul Reynolds, a young New York lawyer whom she first met on the train after leaving New York and who changed his tickets in Chicago so that his berth would be next hers. Reynolds sends her back to bed, but in the morning they learn that a man has been found in one of the berths, apparently murdered. A broken chain is found about his neck. The conductor questions the occupants of the car and it comes to light that Carolita made the journey from South America on the same steamer with the dead man, who annoyed her by his advances. Two Salvation Army lasses and Reynolds are next questioned and the latter admits a casual acquaintance with a Mr. and Mrs. Brown, who left the train at the junction late in the evening. Carolita and Reynolds had played cards with the couple during the evening and noticed the strange fact that Mrs. Brown wore white gloves the entire time. After these facts have been recounted the train makes a stop and the conductor receives a telegraph saying that the so-called Mr. Brown sent a wire at the junction and signed it Walter Reynolds.

Further Questioning.

"Quite easily," Paul appeared undisturbed, "he happens to be my brother."

"Your brother? And you allowed this young lady to think he was a stranger, a man named Brown?"

"I think that Miss Menendez will tell you that she made the acquaintance of the people while I was in the smoking car, and that when I returned and found them sitting with her she introduced them as Mr. and Mrs. Brown. I did not know what my brother's idea might be in travelling incognito. As I said before I have not seen him in ten years."

"Yet he seems to be a member of your firm."

"You are quite mistaken," Paul's manner was stiffening perceptibly, "he has no connection whatsoever with it or with his family."

"Then why did he wire the firm?"

"I was about to ask you what he said in his wire?"

The conductor consulted the message in his hand.

"I don't know that I am at liberty to make that public at the present time," he said, "but I warn you that under such circumstances as these it's mighty unhealthy for passengers to be found travelling under assumed names."

"Then I can set your mind at rest by telling you that at the last station I sent a wire to our Los Angeles attorney to run down the line and meet us at . . . . . this afternoon. His name is Frank Hyatt of Burns and Hyatt. You can wire that firm for confirmation, and he will identify me to your complete satisfaction. I am very sorry indeed that such a serious situation should have arisen, but I am certain that my explanations will clear up my share as an unwilling participant."

"I sincerely hope so, Mr. Reynolds. The fact that Mr. Gaines saw the dead man with your brother should not involve you. I am however, at a loss to account for your playing cards with a brother from whom you have been estranged for ten years."

"Oh!" Carolita broke in, her face suffused with embarassment. "He did not want to! It was I who asked him! The lady did say that she would instruct me in what she named the great American game! I am so new and have so much to learn, it seemed to me best that I take advantage of her kindness, then when I find my people at least I play American cards!"

"Poker, eh?" Mr. Gaines allowed himself a broad grin. "How much did she lift?"

"Lift?" Carolita was plainly puzzled.

"It was bridge." Paul explained briefly, "and not for money. I was anxious to look after Miss Menendez, conductor, that was why I joined the game."

"Well," said Gaines, "I'll be going back to my own roost. Glad to help in any way I can." He took a card from his pocket and handed it to Paul. "I'll be in Los Angeles right along now, drop in to see me."

"One thing more," said the conductor, "Junction headquarters has instructed me to examine the papers and baggage of every person in this car. Merely a form, of course, but I shall be closely questioned by the Los Angeles authorities and must have full information. There are only four of you so it won't take long. We will not need you, Mr. Gaines. Many thanks. I'll begin with you, Mr. Reynolds. Empty your pockets, please."

Paul obeyed with a shrug of his shoulders, his eyes upon Carolita, for since the conductor's command she had turned deadly pale, and the fright he had seen in her eyes only such a short time before returned, intensified, while it seemed to him that she was trying to make him understand some signal, implore his help. What terrible cloud hung over her innocent young heart? What tragedy lay under cover?

"Here is my pocket book—you'll find identification on the traveller's checks, and my cards. There are some letters—" His eyes were still trying to reach Carolita's as he spoke, and now he addressed her directly, "Why don't you go and sit with the Salvation Army lasses while the conductor is examining my outline of history?" he suggested, and was glad to win her instant response as she slipped away from her seat by the window and went to section six.

"Here is my valise," he went on, addressing the conductor, "and a grip, also my brief case." He opened them as he spoke, "and here is my overcoat. I don't think there is anything in the pockets."

"One at a time please," the conductor insisted, and seating himself proceeded to make a very thorough examination of the contents of the three bags, piece by piece.

Paul stood by watching, but his mind was upon Carolita. What had caused the return of her fear? Was it connected with the conductor's proposed searching of her belongings? She had refused to answer his questions about her means of final identification with her people, yet had admitted that she had in her possession some article that would serve the purpose. What was this article and was her fear due to the danger of its exposure?

Whom did she fear? Surely not himself, or the kindly Salvationists. The conductors? They were merely railroad officials, men in uniforms, sworn to duty and responsibility. The man who had just died—but why, since he was gone forever? The unusual events of the night before now returned with tremendous force and became crystalized in his mind, and he was forced to conclude that there had been something behind her presence in the aisle at midnight, her terror, her excited conduct, her vague references!

"Your baggage contains nothing to cause comment, Mr. Reynolds. I suppose you have nothing on your person—no inside wallet?" the conductor said.

"Search my clothes if you like," Paul replied cheerfully, "examine everything I own, I'm game!"

The conductor proceeded to carry out Paul's offer, searching him thoroughly, then: "Thank you, Adjutant Gabrielle. I am sorry to have to inconvenience you—"

"You do not inconvenience us, conductor, I only ask that you alone see our small possessions. My child, wil you take your seat elsewhere for the few minutes required?"

Again the haunted look in Carolita's eyes and Paul gently took hold of her arm.

"Sit with me," he begged, "right here by the window, and try not to worry." She sank down thankfully in his seat, and he began to close his bags, talking with her as cheerfully as his mood would allow. "I can't tell you how sorry I am that you should have such a bad impression of our great country! I'm afraid you'll be running back to South America so fast that we'll never see you again! Please try to believe that such accidents as this do not occur every day. I travel constantly and this is my first experience! Come, can't you trump up a smile—just a tiny one? That's better!"

"You are most good, and I am sorry that such an unpleasant affair has come to you. I fear that your mother will worry that you do not come at once to Santa Barbara."

"I am afraid I did not make myself quite plain. My mother died when I was a young child. The lady I am going to visit is my father's widow."

"Oh! You said always Mrs. Reynolds and because you also said you had not a wife I supposed her to be your mother. She is what you call your mother-in-law?"

Paul laughed.

"Hardly! She is my step-mother, and quite a young one, at that!"

"She was not then long married to your father?"

"I was about six years old when he married her and they went to live in Santa Barbara because of her delicate health. My grandmother brought me up in New York. He had come east on business and was taken with pneumonia. His wife was not strong enough to make the journey, in fact there was not time, for he was ill only three days. He was buried in the family cemetery on the Hudson. I should have gone out to comfort her as soon as it was all over, but business detained me."

"You will pardon my speaking, but I could not help hearing what the conductor said. Mr. Brown was your brother!"

"Yes."

"But I guessed nothing! And the lady, you did not know her?"

"I know that he is married and that she must be his wife."

"Oh," she cried impulsively, "could you not adjust your quarrel? I know not what has made it, naturally. But it is so sad for families to be at war! Then also you are so alone, like me, your father is dead, and your mother. It makes it desolate, does it not! Was he all to blame?"

Paul hesitated.

"I wish that I could make up with him," he said slowly, "but unfortunately he is not of the same mind. I don't know whose fault it was, either. I was only a youngster when it all happened and my father put him out of our lives."

"Oh, then it was not your quarrel?"

"No. He was twelve years older, and I was a kid at school when the break between my brother and father occurred. I have only seen him twice in all these years. He did not take the trouble to come when my father died, though we reached him with the news of our loss."

"He was what you call disinherited?"

"Not exactly. My father left him a very handsome legacy, although he did not share in the estate which was left to my father's widow, Mr. Carr and myself."

"Is Mr. Carr then some relation—" she began and broke off with a sharp "Oh."

"What is it?" he asked and following her eyes saw that the colored maid had come into the car and was standing in the aisle beside the section occupied by the Salvation Army lasses. "The maid? Don't worry, she probably has been directed to search you women as the conductor searched me! He felt me from head to foot to see if I had anything concealed! Yes, that's it, the Salvationists are going with her to the dressing room."

"But—but—" There was genuine horror in her expression.

"Please don't be frightened. I'll speak to the conductor. I don't really see any reason for carrying this thing so far." He arose and walked away from her, arresting the conductor with his indignant question.

"Surely you are going too far with these ladies! What possible reason have you to carry out this kind of a search, what are you looking for?"

"Mr. Reynolds," said the conductor, "I dislike my present duty exceedingly, but orders must be obeyed to the letter. I know perfectly well that these women and the young girl have no connection with the death of the unknown passenger, and I am quite certain that you will not be inconveniently detained in Los Angeles. My report and your addresses with your promises to appear at the inquest will be all that is necessary. Very probably the man died of natural causes which will be at once apparent to a physician. If it had not been for the broken chain about his neck I should not have subjected any of my passengers to annoyance."

"Then you are quite certain that something was stolen from that chain? Has the floor of the car been thoroughly swept?"

"The porter is doing that now."

"The words were barely out of his mouth when the negro arose from his knees, dust brush in one hand, while the other which he held out to the conductor was tightly clasped.

"Boss!" he cried, and for once his slow drawl was lost in the excitement which gripped his simple African nature. "Boss, lawd a massy, look what I done gone an foun' undah dis heah berf when I was lak to sweep up. Look!"

Carriers' Argument For Rate Increase Filed With I. C. C.

Ninety-two pages of printed argument supporting the request of the western railroads for increased freight rates in their territory make up their final brief filed with the interstate commerce commission, a copy of which has been received by the Nebraska railway commission.

One section of the brief, about 12 pages, is devoted to answering the arigument and statistical exhibit prepared by Rate Expert U. G. Powell and Special Counsel Hugh Lamoster of the Nebraska commission, which called attention to the fact that carriers in the western district are already earning 6 per cent or more on their freight business, while realizing considerably less from their passenger service. It was contended by the state's spokesman that no additional burden should be placed on freight to make up for inadequate returns on the passenger side.

The railroad brief insists that carriers are giving no more passenger service than the public need requires, and that in view of automobile and bus competition it would not be possible to raise passenger rates without losing considerable business. They assert that the returns of railroad operation must be considered as a whole, and that the only practicable way of augmenting such returns is through an increase in freight charges.

About the same amount of passenger service is given now as in 1912, the brief declares, and the patronage is about the same. In 1924, the latest year shown in the table, the number of train miles run was 237,377,885, and the number of passenger miles was 12,371,439,615.

Hear Cass Bridge Litigation May 6

The Cass county litigation between the King of Trails Bridge Co. and the Plattsmouth Auto & Wagon Bridge Co., will have an airing in Supreme court May 6. This is the suit brought by the former company to enjoin the latter from making "cut rates" to toll patrons, different from the rates fixed by the district court for the King of Trails bridge.

Another action brought by the Auto & Wagon Bridge Co. against its rival corporation and the state engineer, to prevent the purchase of the King of Trails structure as a state aid bridge and throwing it open to the free use of the public, is also pending in the courts. It will be heard later.

The suit of State vs. Heupel, in which judgment was obtained against the estate of an insane ward in the Lincoln state hospital to pay for her maintenance there, at $16 a month, is set for May 6, also. On the same date a rehearing will be given in the compensation suit of Gale vs. Krug Park Amusement Co., from Omaha. The high bench held some time ago that the corporation was not liable for the death of an employe in a tornado because he was not killed as the result of an "accident" in the course of his work, but by "an act of God."

The supreme court itself will sit for four days during the week of May 3, while the commission will be in session only Monday and Tuesday of that week.

Dance Recital At Orpheum Friday

Miss Flavia Waters will offer a dance recital Friday evening at the Orpheum theater. In addition to the groups of children who will appear, a varied program has been arranged.

Miss Waters will be assisted by Maxine Ziemer Iverson and Katherine Gallagher, each of whom has spent a year in vaudeville; and Miss Thirza Given Fay, a graduate this spring of the dramatic department of the University School of Music, will be featured. Mrs. Elizabeth Burrus Funke will give a group of vocal numbers, and the Waikiki trio, composed of W. C. Jokers, Charles Horton and Henry Schroeder, will give Hawaiian melodies, assisted by Miss Marjorie Corrington in a Hula number. A talented pupil among the dancers is Wilhelmine Sprague, who has attracted the attention of several managers of dancers by her work in acrobatics.

MISS HARRIET MURPHY

"It was only after years of being embarrassed with shiny, oily complexion, and searching vainly for help, that I found Black and White Peroxide (Vanishing) Cream," says Miss Harriet Murphy, 1912 N. 66th St., Philadelphia, Pa. "This pure snowy cream not only makes my skin look smooth, fresh and lovely, but is correcting the excessive oiliness."

An invisible film of Black and White Peroxide (Vanishing) Cream keeps the natural oil, so necessary to the skin's softness and suppleness, from coming out on the surface, where the benefit is lost and the complexion's appearance marred. You can get this delightful cream from your dealer in 50c and 25c jars.

Best results come from using Black and White Skin Soap along with the Black and White Beauty Creations.

The proper care of your teeth and gums

Healthier children now

PRESENT-DAY methods of dental hygiene have done an astounding service to the health of children. For a long time no one guessed that decayed teeth had such an important bearing on the health and development of children, and upon the spread of contagious and infectious diseases among them. Observations have shown that children who practice proper methods of oral hygiene are remarkably free from the common diseases of childhood, and show better mental and physical development.

The introduction of Squibb's Dental Cream, a dentifrice scientifically designed to prevent acid decay, has contributed much toward the effectiveness of oral hygiene methods. Squibb's Dental Cream contains more than 50 per cent of Squibb's Milk of Magnesia—a safe, effective antacid.

Particles of the Squibb's Milk of Magnesia in Squibb's Dental Cream penetrate into all the tiny fissures at The Danger Line—those tiny V-shaped crevices where gums meet teeth. The Milk of Magnesia not only neutralizes the dangerous mouth acids, which cause acid decay and gum irritation, but it remains in the tiny crevices for a considerable time, neutralizing new acids which may form.

Children are healthier now.

Lincoln and Nebraska Have Progressed in Forty Years

¶ Many of life's comforts are enjoyed today that were undreamed of in 1886. The world, this country, Nebraska and Lincoln, of course, felt very much grown up in 1886 and proud of their achievements. But the record since then is a record of marvelous growth and progress.

¶ Forty years ago Lincoln was a typical prairie town of about 20,000 people. Modes of travel were slow. Automobiles were unheard of, but today in Nebraska nearly every fourth person has one.

¶ Lincoln's first paved streets did not come until 1887, and then with cedar blocks. There were street cars, drawn by mules. The trolley was invented in 1887, and was not used in Lincoln until later.

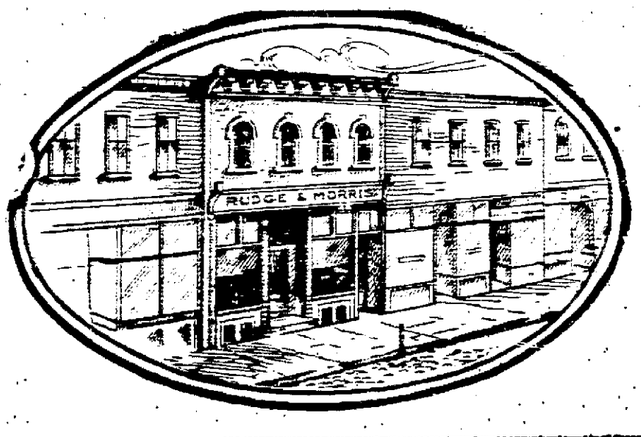
¶ Forty years ago practical man-carrying airplanes, wireless telegraph, radios and their broadcasting programs were unheard of. Edison invented the phonograph before this business began, but it was not not until 1898 before the disc machine came into being. The incandescent electric lamp had its beginning over 40 years ago, but it has been greatly improved since and is regarded today as a commonplace convenience.

¶ It is within the past 40 years that women may enjoy the exhilaration of merely "pressing" a button to light their homes, start their washers, vacuum cleaners, sewing machines, toasters, flatirons, stoves, ranges, automobiles and other modern conveniences.

¶ Many other improvements in labor saving machinery have taken place in weaving, knitting, sewing, shoemaking and other automatic contrivances since the Rudge & Guenzel Co. business was started.

Our Fortieth Anniversary Sale Begins, Monday May 3rd

We invite you to participate in the Anniversary Offerings and to partake of the dependable merchandise at our low Anniversary prices.



The Fastest Forty Years in History

—In 1887 Tesla, a Frenchman, invented another type dynamo.

—In 1887 Tesla invented the multiphase induction motor. The same year the synchronous commutator motor was invented. This last was the year of the invention of Bradley's rotary converter.

—In 1888 Eastman secured the patents for the Eastman and Reichenbach film from which modern motion picture industry in an outgrowth. Burroughs invented the recording adding machine this year and the latest models are now in use by Rudge and Guenzel Co.

—In 1889 Thomson introduced electric welding.

—In 1890 Thompson and Houston invented the gas engine ignition.

—In 1891 Thomson was awarded and Marconi patent rights were introduced.

—The year 1892 Tesla invented the alternate current electric motor.

—In 1893 Thomas A. Edison invented the first motion picture machine.

—In 1895 Preece and Englishman discovered the principles of wireless telegraphy. Marconi, a year later, worked with the same in Italy. The year 1895 saw the modern type of disc plow was invented.

—In 1896 saw the beginnings of the electric car in Lincoln and of electric steel, a year when high-speed steel was discovered.

—In 1898 Lundell and Wilbur Wright, a bicycle maker, made flying machine tests at Kitty Hawk, N. C. and flew in the face of the sun.

—In 1899 W. T. Thom of Sweden invented the radio device.

—In 1900 Frank H. Norris automobile was a new automobile upon the road.

—In 1901 Lundell of Lowell invented a machine that started and landed a person a mile in the face of 60 miles a minute.

—In 1902 submarines, motorcycles and trucks developed rapidly at the Elizabethport, New Jersey, plant, and were to prove their worth as implements to aid in the forthcoming world war.

—In 1914 the world's greatest war began. Big Bertha's were mounted and poured projectiles into cities 75 miles away.

—Some of the greatest of modern inventions came in this progressive world period, wireless telegraphy and telephone, the automobile, airplane, the gas engine, the aeroplane engine, the aeroplane, anti-aircraft, Antiseptics and Anesthetics, Spectrum analysis, X-Rays and other long-known facts.

Poison gas, used in World War and coal-tar colors are two unrivaled modern materials.

Other modern marvels are the Lincoln Highway, stretching from Washington, the Capitol, reaching with its arms, roadways and resources the 48th State, Rudge, giant ocean steamers, California redwood trees, some of which are over 300 feet high, the seedless orange and other hybrid and artificially mated plants, fruits and flowers.

Today we are adopting the latest phenomenon of science, the Radio. The discoveries are endless, but enough have been given to show the remarkable progress of the world within the last 40 years.

Time flies, we say, but author Benson says, "Time goes you say? Ah, no! Alas, Time stays, we go."

8 Presidents have served the country since this business was inaugurated, 17 Governors have held office in Nebraska since this business began.

Our First Store

—Here, at 230 South Eleventh street, Charles H. Rudge and C. F. Morris founded on May 1st, 1886, the firm of "Rudge & Morris."

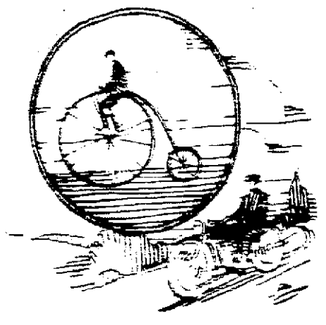
—Today, as Rudge & Guenzel Co., it carries on the principles laid down by its founders, by men who have been with the firm nearly the entire 40 years.

—Today this store is one of Nebraska's leading retail institutions.

—From 5 employes in 1886 to over 300 in 1926.

—From this little 25x100 foot store, the store now covers nearly one-half city block, with floor space of over 4½ acres.

From the quill pen to the typewriter.



From the old high wheelers to the motor cycles.

From the old hallo the man to the automobile.

From the news by horseback to the radio.

Asks Divorce—Julia Carper has filed a divorce action against Joseph W. Carper in District court, charging non-support. They were married December 31, 1924, in Council Bluffs. Mr. Carper owns 1,250 acres of land in Yuma county, Colo., worth $32,000, besides other property, according to the plaintiff. She asks alimony and the restoration of her maiden name.

Administratrix Appointed—Velma Smaha was appointed administratrix of the estate of Harriet A. Sharp Wednesday by County Judge Good. Mrs. Sharp was killed with a hammer last March and her husband is being held for trial on the charge of murder. Her estate is estimated to be worth $1,000. Mrs. Smaha is a daughter of the deceased. John A. Ostdiek, divorced husband of Mrs. Sharp, recently was appointed guardian for their two minor children, Zola and Marie Ostdiek.

Lawson of Omaha, one of the members of a federal survey party that formerly worked in Nebraska but was disbanded a few weeks ago, has been appointed by Land Commissioner Swanson as an additional deputy state surveyor. There are now three deputies working under Surveyor E. C. Simmons. Mr. Lawson was sent to Madrid for his first assignment. The state does not pay its deputies anything, but they collect $8 a day for their services from the counties, municipalities, corporations, or persons who ask for their services.

Brief Filed in Divorce Case—Thomas C. Healy of Lincoln, in a brief filed with the state supreme court, presents his side of the marital troubles involved in the divorce suit between himself and his wife which the district court of Lancaster county decided in his favor. He recites numerous incidents to support his claim that he submitted to unreasonable demands on her part.

Randall Back From Trip—Railway Commissioner C. A. Randall has returned to Lincoln after accompanying the Northwestern railroad's cow and hen train over the Oakdale-Scribner branch on Saturday and Monday. He takes pride in the fact that his home town, Norman Grove, turned out an attendance of 3,400 to meet the train, view its exhibits, and hear the speakers.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

TORONTO—(AP)—An appeal for adoption of the Golden Rule in international politics was made by Sir Esme Howard, the British ambassador to the United States in an address Tuesday before the Canadian Rotary and Empire clubs of Toronto. "There can be no peace," he asserted, "if all nations are always bent on having their own way in international affairs," and he urged that an attempt be made to understand the point of view of others since some sacrifice "is almost always necessary in any fair and quare deal."

LITTLE ROCK, Ark.—(AP)—Lieut. James Franklin Powell, piloting the United States army balloon from Phillips Field, Md., will be the first to follow the lead balloon "Sky Lark," into the air in the national elimination balloon race here Thursday. Drawings for positions by the nine pilots who will compete in the elimination contest and for the Lehlbach trophy gave Lieutenant Powell and Lieut. James Farley, the cast-off at 5 o'clock, fifteen minutes after the pilot ascends. The other contestants will follow at five minute intervals.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Brigadier General Ashburn, chief of the inland waterways commission, making a test trip up the Mississippi from St. Louis to St. Paul and Minneapolis, reported to the war department yesterday the splendid progress of large under tonnage and added "the existence of this route has already proven invaluable and much is yet to be learned."

NEW YORK—(AP)—The establishment of United States steel common stock on a regular $7 annual dividend basis was approved by the directors Tuesday at the suggestion of J. P. Morgan. Although extra payments have resulted in the distribution of this amount annually since the beginning of 1924, the action of the corporation in authorizing a fixed $7 rate was interpreted as an indication of its confidence in continued prosperity. Elbert H. Gary, head of the corporation since it was founded in 1901, was re-elected chairman for another year, together with the other officers.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Physicians last night reported the condition of Evangeline Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, who is ill with appendicitis, as unchanged. After a consultation it was decided that an immediate operation was not necessary. Miss Booth was stricken in Chicago but insisted on coming for the eastern territorial congress of the Salvation Army. She arrived Monday night, accompanied by a doctor and a nurse. All plans for her attending the congress, which adjourns Thursday, have been abandoned.

STUDENTS GIVE SENIOR RECITAL.

A very interesting senior recital from the fine arts college of the University of Nebraska, was that of Miss Beatrice Long, voice student with Walter Wheatley, and Miss Helen Howe, piano student with Louise Zumwinkle Watson, which was given Tuesday evening at the Temple theater. Miss Long, who is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Long of Lincoln, has a soprano voice of unusual beauty. Her tones were clear and sweet, and very natural. Her splendid breath control made her singing of even her heaviest numbers, a seemingly simple thing to do. Miss Long had a charming stage presence.

Miss Howe showed rare ability as a pianist. Her playing was even and smooth, masterful, yet had none of the crashing tones that some of the younger pianists effect. She played with ease and poise.

The program was as follows:

Grieg—Sonata, Op. 7, Allegro Moderato, Andante Molto, Alla Menuetto, Molto Allegro.

Beethoven—Mignon.

Mozart—Deh Vieni Non Tardar, from "The Marriage of Figaro."

Reger—Scherzoso, Op. 13, No. 3.

Juon—Etude—Naiads at the Spring.

Schubert—Faith in Spring.

Faure—Apres Un Reve.

Chopin—Nocturne, F flat minor.

Dohnanyi—Scherzo, Op. 3 No. 1.

Strauss—Serenade.

Campbell-Tipton — Crying of Water.

Eckert—Swiss Echo Song.

Marjorie Little, accompanist.

PARTY IN HONOR OF DOROTHY SEACREST

Mrs. Leslie Seacrest and Mrs. Wilber Johnson entertained at an attractive pre-nuptial party Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Seacrest, 1700 South Fiftieth street, honoring Miss Dorothy Seacrest, whose marriage to Victor Foss will be a May event. The affair was in the nature of a Vanity shower, and Miss Seacrest's gifts were presented to her in a basket decorated with pink crepe paper to resemble a rose. The rose motif was carried out in all of the decorations throughout the house, and was introduced in the baskets of spring flowers in a rose shade. A large basket of roses tied with rose tulle, formed the center for the table where a two course luncheon was served late in the evening. Rose candy cupids tied with large tulle bows were the guest favors, and the place markers were tin ybride's heads. The evening hours were spent informally with games.

A nimportant business meeting will be held following the luncheon.

ALUMNAE ENTERTAIN DISTRICT GOVERNOR.

The members of the Lincoln Alpha Phi alumnae association will entertain at dinner this evening at the University club, honoring the district governor, Miss Marian Wiley of Syracuse, N. Y., who arrived in the city today. Covers will be arranged for twenty at one table made attractive with spring flowers carrying out the colors of the sorority. The evening hours will be spent informally.

MISS HELEN WEESE ANNOUNCES ENGAGEMENT

Miss Helen Weese, Fifty-sixth and Roose street, entertained at a delightful bridge party Tuesday evening, when she announced her engagement and approaching marriage to Wilbur A. Williamson of Kansas City, Mo. There were three tables of players, including Miss Clara Edwards and Miss Alice Fay of Omaha. Sweet peas in shades of pink and white, and tapers in a matching color note, formed the decorations throughout the house. Luncheon was served by the hostess late in the evening.

Rev. Paul Joseph Brounts, 65, for many years a resident of Palmyra, died at Bennet at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday. He was formerly pastor of St. Leo's Catholic church at Palmyra and of St. Martin's church at Douglas. Father Brounts was forced to retire twelve years ago owing to ill health. He is survived by two sisters, Mary and Elizabeth Brounts, Mastrict, Holland. The body is being held at Splain and Schnell's chapel pending funeral arrangements.

The body of Henry C. McArthur will arrive at 8:10 a. m. Thursday over the Missouri Pacific from Joplin and will be taken to the Roberts' chapel where funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon in charge of Rev. Walter Aitken and the G. A. R. Masonic services will be held at the grave in Wyuka.

Margaret Osterman, 70, died at 3:45 o'clock Tuesday, at the home in Denton. Besides her husband, Martin Osterman, she is survived by three sons. The body is at Henry Brown's parlors, where funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Friday. Burial will be in Wyuka. Mrs. Osterman is an old resident of this part of the state.

Donna June, 8 months and 17 days old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank A. Rock, died at 1 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the home, 816 H street. The body is at Henry Brown's parlors, where funeral services will be held Thursday at 3:30 o'clock. Burial will be in Wyuka.

Funeral services for the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sheldon, who died at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, were held at the grave in Yankee Hill cemetery at 2 o'clock, Wednesday. Rev. J. F. Thompson officiated.

About People

Mother's class of the First Baptist church wil meet at the home of Mrs. W. H. Middleton, 2916 Arlington street, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

A. M. Morrissey, chief justice of the state Supreme court, returned to his office Wednesday forenoon, after several days spent in a hospital under treatment for intestinal flu. He has not recovered his full strength, but expects to participate in Friday's consultation and occupy his place on the bench next week. He was taken ill last Thursday afternoon.

RIOT LOSS HEAVY.

CALCUTTA, India, April 28.—(AP)—Sporadic rioting between Hindus and Mohammedans which has been going on for the past week, has cost the lives of forty-five persons thus far. The total number injured is estimated at 375. For the first time since the rioting began, the affected areas were quiet this morning. The improvement is probably due to the reinforcement of police by military drafts and by a general round-up of known bad characters.

RIVER HEAD, N. Y.—(AP)—James E. Handshaw, Bridgetown stamp collector, whose will filed Tuesday directed his two sons to give to charity one-tenth of their incomes, following his custom. The widow was directed to publish a book written by her husband and give the profits to charity.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83
Constipation! How to Keep Bowels Regular
To Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, it seemed cruel that so many constipated men, women and children, and particularly old folks, had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.
While he knew that constipation was the cause of nearly all headaches, biliousness, indigestion and stomach misery, he did not believe that a sickening "purge" or "physic" was necessary.
In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to establish natural bowel "regularity" even for those chronically constipated. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but, best of all, it never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless, and so pleasant that even a cross, feverish, bilious, sick child gladly takes it.
Buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicine and just see for yourself.

AVERAGE AGE OF CRIMINAL LOWER

Judge Bayard Paine Says Public Dance One Of Main Causes.

Also Lays Blame On Pictures and Misuse Of the Automobile.

HARVARD, Neb., April 28.—(By the Associated Press.) — The average age of the criminal has decreased year by year, District Judge Bayard H. Paine of Grand Island declared in an address delivered last night before the annual fifth district convention of the Nebraska Federation of Women's clubs. He urged a return to old established principles of morality as a pressing need.

"Ten years ago, when I first became district judge," he declared, "it seemed as though the majority of those sentenced to the penitentiary were betwn thirty and fifty years of age, but in the last five years I can recall but four men and three women above thirty years of age, and one Saturday afternoon I sent five boys to the reformatory, all of whom were under twenty years of age.

"Another change that is very noticeable is the fact that formerly it was supposed that the men who committed the crimes were ignorant and had never been taught better. It is very common now to find that the young men who commit these crimes are graduates of high schools.

"I hesitate to place the burden for these changes upon the parents, and believe that several things have brought about the change in the lives of the young people. They include first, the public dance. The kind of dance I refer to is not the dance that the ordinary parent allows children to attend, but the dance that is held in the ranch barns in the cattle country and in halls and amusement parks where there is absolutely no kind of supervision, and where as a rule, the dance has only two motives—financial gain for the promoter and the sale of liquor. The results of this sort of dance constantly show up in our courts.

Judge Paine urged that pictures be selected upon a judgment of their true worth rather than upon how much they will bring in box office receipts.

Judge Paine also condemned the misuse of the automobile as a third factor and quoted a statement from Judge Lindsay of Denver saying the misuse of the automobile was responsible for a large number of delinquencies.

He urged a return to old established morals as the only sane method of meeting the problem.

Adequate wages for women was advocated as a solution of girl delinquency in the industrial world by Mrs. A. H. Brooks, Hastings, in addressing the convention. She urged the convention to foster such a movement.

Mrs. Brooks also stressed the need of beauty in home life and surroundings for girls. Mrs. J. C. Eller, president of the Harvard club, also spoke during the afternoon session.

Twelve Blocks Of Paving For Rulo

(Special to The Star.)

RULO, Neb., April 28.—This town, the most southeastern point in the state, now has twelve blocks of paving, work having been finished this week by the Abel Construction Co. The paving consists of cement curbs and gutters with gravel filled in the center and rolled and packed down. The paving runs down Main street from the railway tracks, just one block west of the west end of the Missouri river bridge, south a distance of eight blocks to the top of the hill, and from the Bank of Rulo corner it extends two blocks west, thence two blocks north to the Burlington depot. The Main street of the town is low and has always been a quagmire of yellow clay and gumbo which is now remedied. The Abel Construction company shipped from here to Geneva today, having secured a small paving contract at the latter point.

Two Buildings Are Damaged By Fire

(Special to The Star.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., April 28.—Two frame buildings in Eleventh street in the business district of the city were damaged by fire to the extent of about $1,500. The one was a small residence owned by Mrs. Suyse Stevenson and the other was C. C. Hardy's carpenter shop. Cause of the fire has not been definitely determined, though it is believed to have been started by sparks from some neighboring chimney. Both buildings were insured.

Loosen Up That Cold With Musterole

Have Musterole handy when a cold starts. It has all of the advantages of grandmother's mustard plaster WITHOUT the blister. Apply it with the fingers. You feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Made of pure oil of mustard and other simple ingredients, Musterole is recommended by many nurses and doctors. Try Musterole for bronchitis, sore throat, stiff neck, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, croup, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pains and aches of the back or joints, sore muscles, sprains, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet colds of the chest. It may prevent pneumonia and "flu."

Popular Writer Delivers Address In Boyhood Home

BEATRICE, Neb., April 28.—(AP)—Shelley Phillips, veteran sportsman and widely popular author of stories of field and stream, last night addressed members of Beatrice Izaak Walton league. Mr. Phillips, known as El Commancho, now lives in Seattle, Wash. He is a son of the late Colonel Phillips, early day Beatrice mayor and regimental commander in Indian campaigns of the '90's. "El Commancho" stories of his beloved 'Little River'," said Wood Goble, league leader, "are veritable prose poems." They are written around his memories of boyhood days spent along Big Blue river in southern Nebraska."

Fremont Woman Is Fined For Selling Liquor To Minors

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., April 28.—For selling liquor to minors Mrs. Ada M. McNew was fined $100 and costs and given a 60-day jail sentence, the latter being suspended. Four prominent youths, arrested while speeding in an automobile several days ago, admitted that they bought liquor from Mrs. McNew, who resides in a fashionable part of the city.

BEATRICE MARRIAGE.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 28.—The marriage of Chester Herber Stoll and Miss Isabella Evans was solemnized Sunday at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Ida Evans, Rev. C. B. Hankins officiating. The bride is a graduate of the Beatrice high school. The bridegroom is a son of Mrs. Catherine Stoll of this city and was born and reared here. After a brief honeymoon spent in Lincoln and Omaha the young couple will return to Beatrice to reside. Mr. Stoll is employed as a linotype operator on the Beatrice Daily Sun.

GAGE COUNTY DEATH.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 28.—Joseph Sladek, for the past sixteen years a resident of the Virginia neighborhood, died yesterday after a brief illness, aged sixty-eight years. He is survived by his wife and five children. One daughter, Mrs. Mary Vonasek, resides in Germany.

FARM HOUSE FIRE.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 28.—The farm home of J. S. Patterson, living east of Barneston, was damaged by fire which started from a defective flue. Autoists in passing discovered the blaze in time to save the property.

TIBBLES MEMBER OF BROWN BAND

Nebraska Man For Years With Famous Abolitionist Raider.

OMAHA, April 28.—By the Associated Press.) — When Luke Parsons' biographer wrote that the ninety year old frontiersman, who died at Salina, Kas., last week was the lone survivor of John Brown's abolitionist band, he forgot Thomas Tibbles, newspaper man, Indian reformer, author and one time candidate for vice-president. He made the race on the people's ticket in 1904.

Thomas Tibbles today views from his modest home atop a bluff overlooking the broad Missouri south of Omaha the world which gave him a lively career. He is now 88.

Thomas Tibbles joined up with John Brown in 1856, when but sixteen. With that band of roving fighters who ranged up and down the Kansas-Missouri border, culminating their activities in the raid on Harper's Ferry federal arsenal in 1859, he experienced thrills that were not paralleled by his later days among the Indians, nor even by his days as vivil war news correspondent.

Thomas Tibbles remembers Luke Parsons. He also remembers the time when "negro stealing" in Platte county, Missouri, a guerilla band caught him and jerked the Tibbles neck upward in a rope sling over a tree. But his own friends soon appeared and Thomas Tibbles is using the same neck today.

Tibbles married Bright Eyes, member of the Omaha Indian tribe, and with her, aided in obtaining legislation in congress making Indians citizens. He was for long the friend of the Indian in the white man's councils.

While studying law in 1856 at Council Bluffs, Ia., Tibbles heard of Brown. Sympathy with his cause and love of the adventure promised caused him to shelve the law books and go to Kansas. His subsequent life on the frontier and his pioneering in journalism won him a place in the history of this section of the west.

Just a few years ago, Tibbles retired from the editorial staff of the Omaha World Herald. His sight is failing and he seldom writes. He sits and rocks and retrospects.

Odd Fellows Hold Anniversary Meet

(Special to The Star.)

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., April 28.—Several hundred persons attended a program given in observance of the 107th anniversary of the organization of the Odd Fellows, held at the Odd Fellows hall Monday evening. Rev. P. M. Hillman, pastor of Trinity M. E. church, gave a talk in which he reviewed the history of the organization. The "Kitchenette" band, equipped with kitchen utensils, provided music.

START ON A NEW DRAINAGE DITCH

Much Valuable Land In Southeast Nebraska To Be Made Safe.

(Special to The Star.)

PRESTON, Neb., April 28.—A new drainage ditch to carry off flood waters in Richardson county is being dug here. The ditch will change the course of Muddy creek, a source of much flood trouble in the past, and will connect with the present Nemaha drainage ditch, which was built through Johnson and Richardson counties several years ago.

The new drainage project will start at a point on the Nemaha ditch about one and one-half miles east of Preston and run northwest three miles cutting into Muddy creek twice and cutting off a big curve, crossing land owned by Henry Zellers and Amargrave Brothers, and it is figured that ten miles of indirect flow of the creek will be cut off by the direct flow of the ditch when completed and the project will drain thousands of acres of the most valuable land in the state and render crops safer in this section.

Machinery and a huge dredge boat are on the ground and work will continue day and night until the ditch is completed. It will be forty feet wide at the top, tapering down to about ten feet at the bottom, and will be twenty-three feet deep part of the way. The dredger has a shovel capable of displacing and lifting a ton and one-half dirt at a time, and the machine digs about 200 feet each 24 hours. The dirt will be banked along the sides of the ditch to form dykes and the water will be drained to the Nemaha and Missouri rivers.

TELLS CHARACTER EDUCATION PLAN

Bimson Talks To Jefferson County Teachers At Fairbury.

(Special to The Sar.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., April 28.—Supt. O. H. Bimson of the University Place schools outlined a plan for character education which is the basis for a new movement in the public schools, before a group of forty-five Jefferson county teachers, school officials and executives following a dinner given at the Rosemary here Monday evening.

In 1914, Mr. Bimson said, a man whose name was anonymous offered $5,000 to the person who should formulate the best morality code for children. The same man, when the code had been selected, offered $20,000 for the best working plan by which this code could be put into action. A group of educators in Iowa after spending two years on the idea, won in this competition in which twenty-six states participated. Hence the plan is known as the Iowa plan.

It is based on a thorough understanding of child psychology, which Mr. Bimson traced through charts Standardized test questions have been formulated according to the grade of the pupil, dealing with the preparation of the child for different grades of life such as the following: preparation for health, life in the group, civic relations, industrial and economic life, vocation.

Only the educator giving the tests sees the answers the pupil gives. No moral is pointed out. Each pupil is given back his grade and the average grade of the class is made known. The object is to awaken the child to his moral nature through himself, and to develop his individual responsibility. Mr. Bimson has conducted these tests personally and has found the results satifying.

The plan is found more practicable for the grades below the high school. The ideal of sportsmanship appeals to the high school age. Several interesting experiments showing the results of the power of suggestion in dealing with school children were described by Mr. Bimson.

Wheat Fields Are Damaged By Wind

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 28.—A gale similar to the one which visited this section last Saturday, prevailed here Tuesday, doing more damage to the winter wheat, some of which was literally blown out by the roots. It is estimated that the crop has been damaged so far to the extent of 50 per cent. A number of fields are being plowed up and planted to corn, while others are being drilled to oats.

Contract Is Let For New Theatre

(Special to The Star.)

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., April 28.—The Goehring-Sothman company, local contractors, has secured the general contract for the construction of the new Capitol theater at an approximate cost of $175,000. Contracts for plumbing, heating and electric wiring will be sublet. The builders expect to start construction at once.

BACK FROM GERMANY.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 28.—Mr. and Mrs. Menne Wolken of the Filley vicinity, who have been on a four and a half months' trip to Germany, have returned home. Mr. Wolken purchased a fine German police dog while there and brought it home with him.

EARLY RESIDENT GONE.

(Special to The Sar.)

McCOOK, Neb., April 28.—Vance McManigal, a resident of Red Willow county for fifty years, died at his home in the suburbs of this city early Tuesday morning. He was in his 85th year. As a pioneer of this part of Nebraska he hunted buffalo over this immediate vicinity in the early seventies.

Funeral Service For Fremont Man

(Special to The Sar.)

FREMONT, Neb., April 28.—Funeral services for John Moackler, member of the Fremont police force, were held this afternon, at Salem Lutheran church. Mr. Moackler died Tuesday night after undergoing a surgical operation for appendicitis. He was born in Fremont 50 years ago. For many years he conducted a grocery store on Broad street. Moackler was seized with an attack of appendicitis last Friday while on duty at the police station. He leaves a wife and three young children.

Retired Farmer Takes Own Life

(Special to The Sar.)

FREMONT, Neb., April 28.—Joseph Schulz, 71, retired farmer, residing at Prague, was found dead with a shotgun by his side. He had killed himself. Schultz had been in ill health for several months, relatives said. He is survived by his wife and five children.

GRIGGS AT BEATRICE.

(Special to The Star.)

BEATRICE, Neb., April 28.—Kirk Griggs of Lincoln, secretary of the department of trade and commerce, gave an interesting and instructive address Wednesday at the noon luncheon of the Kiwanis, his subject being "The Banking Situation in the State of Nebraska." Mr. Griggs formerly lived in Beatrice where he spent his boyhood, and consequently a large number of friends were at the luncheon to hear his address.

What Are You Studying?

HISTORY, mathematics, literature, languages, science? In your whole curriculum, there is no lesson more important than how to guard your health. Long after your hard-won French vocabulary is forgotten, you will be putting into daily practice—if you are wise—the rules of health.

School work, with its continual studying, its sports, dances and social affairs demands a vigorous body. How discouraging it is to miss the good times. And sometimes, how unnecessary.

First of all, then, learn the lesson of health. Find out what fresh air will do, exercise, sleep and proper food. Many school girls have learned that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped them to find the health they needed and has made their school days happier.

"I gave my fifteen year old daughter, Louise, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it did her a wonderful lot of good. She had been out of school for four months. I read the advertisements of the Vegetable Compound, and since she has taken it she has improved and has gone back to school again. I recommend the Vegetable Compound to other mothers with girls who are not as strong as they should be."

WORLD TRAVELER GIVES LECTURE

Col. Powell Tells Of Tour Of Northern and Central Africa.

Speaker Pictures Mussolini As "World's Greatest Danger."

Col. E. Alexander Powell, world traveler, delivered the last address of the Junior League series Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium when he spoke of his tour of Northern and Central Africa.

In discussing the Riffian war, of which he showed some slides, Colonel Powell pointed out that the Riffs are Caucausian, and as a matter of fact are fighting a war of freedom against Spain and France, who divided their country after the world war. Spain has lost over 400,000 prisoners to the Riffs, and the latter, by exchanging the prisoners for munitions, are well equipped.

Peace is the probable outcome of negotiations underway at present, Colonel Powell thought. The war is one that has continued for fourteen years, and all three nations are wearied.

Benito Mussolini is the "world's greatest danger" today, Col. Powell said. Colonel Powell believes that Mussolini plans a deliberate assault upon the new Turkey, in order to distract the attention of the Italians from his dictaorship. With this war Turkey will be left open to the Russians, and a tide of bolshevism will sweep down from the north, and into Islam and equatorial Africa, he said Turkey has been the buffer state.

A curious development is taking place today in Africa, Colonel Powell said, in discussing the progress of French colonialization.

Training Huge Army.

In French Equatorial Africa, French military men are training a huge army of black men, ready for the firing line in the next war. Powell estimated that the size of this army would reach at least a million men within five or six years. At the present time the French are establishing lines of communication with this colony across the Sudan.

Colonel Powell took a rap at the anti-drill advocates, and declared that he could not understand why in America, which insures against everything, such opposition should form against insurance for the greatest of all calamities, war.

The Sahara desert has been done a great injustice by the geographers, who picture it a sandy waste, he said. In fact, there is only a small portion of the desert which is sand, and a number of large oases. In one place he found a fruit orchard of 148 acres in the heart of the desert. Interior Africa is becoming a great source of supplies, and in a few years the French expect to be fully supplied in both cotton and wheat from that province, he said. There are also found great mines of copper and gold. He scored the notion that the Riffs were receiving aid from Russia, but said that probably they did get some support from English financiers, who had been promised important mining concessions.

"Honest Jurors" Walk Out of Box In Murder Trial

PHILADELPHIA, April 28.—(AP)—Seven men walked out of the jury box in Criminal court Tuesday to indicate their belief that a husband is justified in killing a man found embracing his wife.

George E. Osborne, a milk man, was placed on trial for second degree murder in shooting James F. Hartley, a butcher in Osborne's home. The commonwealth alleged that Osborne unexpectedly returned to his home and found Hartley there.

Addressing the twelve men in the jury box, Assistant District Attorney M. J. Speiser explained there was some question of Hartley having improper relations with Mrs. Asborne.

"Is there any man in the box who would think that under those circumstances a man is justified in killing a man whom he discovers in embrace with his wife?" Mr. Speiser asked. "If there is I am going to ask you to be honest with the commonwealth by asking to be excused from this case."

The seven men arose and filed out of the box.

IOWA SWEPT BY DUST BLIZZARD

Worst Dirt Storm In Years Hangs Like Smoke Pall Over State.

DES MOINES, Ia., April 28—(By the Associated Press.)— States north and west of Iowa Tuesday presented this state with some of the finest of their soil, but many citizens, including housewives, whose floors and furniture were covered with a grey coat, considered it something of a slap in the face. The cloud of fine dust completely covered the sun most of the day. C. D. Reed, federal meteorologist here, said that no such dust storm had been seen in this part of the state in the last twenty-five or thirty years.

The smoke-like pall hung over the greater portion of the state well into the night.

As the dust driven from the northwest by a high wind, slowly settled over the city, the more fastidious changed collars frequently housewives doing the wash a day late found the sheets grimy and pedestrians coughed and rubbed dirt from their eyes.

The weather man last night figuratively "crossed his fingers," refusing to make a definite forecast because, he said, "you can't tell with so much dust. It is like a blanket of smoke. It prevents heat radiation from the earth and without temperature forecasts we can't be sure."

Mr. Reed warned Iowans who are beginning to fret about the straw hat season that they would have to form a working alliance between the overcoat and the straw hat if they indulged too soon. Temperatures alternating between spring and late winter are likely for several weeks, he said.

Crops Damaged.

ST. PAUL, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Heavy rains are needed to settle dust which was swept in great clouds in southwestern Minnesota and southeastern South Dakota and carried into Iowa yesterday.

Damage to farms, roads and highway drainage systems was caused and considerable inconvenience to farmers working in fields, automobilits and pedestrians in cities was reported.

Advices from several Minnesota towns told of grain fields being swept by a fifty-mile gale and some replanting may be necessary, it was said. The loose dirt in the newly planted fields was easy prey for the strong winds.

Near Marshall, Minn., sand drifts two to four feet high were piled up around fence posts and two foot drifts of dirt impeded automobile traffic at Fulda, Minn.

At Sioux Falls, S. D., the sun was obscured virtually all day yesterday because of the soil in the air. Farmers in southeastern South Dakota were driven from the fields and had to seek refuge indoors. The sun also was hidden at Des Moines, Ia., by the dust from Minnesota and South Dakota.

TO SELL PACIFIC SHIPS.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—Shipping board plans virtually to clear the government out of commercial shipping ownership in the Pacific at the earliest possible date were disclosed Tuesday by Chairman O'Connor. The pending sale of the five passenger ships of the Admiral-Oriental line to R. Stanley Dollar of San Francisco, if the deal goes through, will be followed by the offer for sale of the freight freighters of the same line operating out of Puget Sound ports to the Orient.

ADOPT CONFERENCE REPORT.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—The conference report on the agricultural apropriation bill carrying $129,370,000 was adopted Tuesday by the senate. The bill provides $4,-653,00 of which $750,000 would be imediamtely available for eradication of bovine tuberculosis.

FARM RELIEF ON HOUSE SCHEDULE

Tilson Promises To Call Up Agriculture Measures Early Next Week.

Committee Unable to Agree On Any Plan, So It Reports Three Bills.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Consideration by the house of farm relief legislation is expected to begin early next week.

The agriculture committee, reporting three bills yesterday, requested that they be given right of way as soon as possible and were told by Representative Tilson, the republican leader, they probably could be called up Tuesday. Four days of general debate is in prospect.

Carrying out the program it adopted ten days ago, the committee reported the Haugen bill to stabilize prices with a revolving fund of $375,000,000 and collection of an equalization fee on farm commodities after two years, the Tincher proposal to carry out Secretary Jardine's plan with an appropriation of $100,000,000 for loans to farmers co-operative associations, and the Curtis-Aswell measure to form national commodity marketing associations, financed by the farmers.

None of the bills commanded a majority in the committee which defeated, 15 to 5, a motion to have them reported separately, with a record vote on each. The vote to report the three concurrently was unanimous.

Committee's Final Move.

Coming after more than two months of hearings, the procedure Tuesday represents the committee's final move on farm relief this season, except for pressing for action on the floor. It calls for the Haugen bill to be brought up under a special rule making the other two measures in order as substitutes, thus giving the house an opportunity to vote on all three.

In his report urging the stabilization plan, Chairman Haugen contended that agriculture was in urgent need of federal aid, and pointed to the assistance given the merchant marine, reclamation and other projects as evidence that a precedent has been established for such assistance.

Representative Tincher, republican, Kansas, reporting the bill embracing the Jardine plan declared it would give the farmers the necessary finances to carry out "orderly marketing" and would not result in government interference in an industry that should be controlled by the producers.

The report made by Representative Aswell of Louisiana, ranking democrat on the committee, in behalf of his proposal said it would keep the farm relief problem out of politics by setting up machinery for the farmers to control their commodities

Says Members Of Tariff Commission Former Lobbyists

WASHINGTON, April 28.—Chairman Marvin and Commissioner Burgess of the tariff commission, were characterized as former tariff lobbyists by Commissioner E. P. Costigan, appearing Tuesday before the senate tariff investigating committee.

"In all frankness I am obliged to express regret that President Harding should have found it necessary to nominate either of these gentleman," he said. Marvin was known as a lobbyist for the wool interests during the period of tariff revision and Burgess' activities as a representative of the pottery interests are well known."

In 1923, he said, both wool and pottery were removed from the list of commodities to rinvestigation by the commission.

Betting Tax Is Creating Furore In British Politics

LONDON, April 28.—(AP)—The betting tax, proposed by Chancellor of the Exchequer Churchill in his budget speech Monday, has become a national issue overnight with its moral aspect looming large.

Taken altogether, the chancellor has brought down a tremendous opposition throughout Great Britain and even in his own party voices have been lifted against his proposal. However, he probably will get a safe majority for its passage when the government whips get to work on the big conservative majority in the house of commons.

As far as the legislature is concerned, many conservatives oppose the project on moral grounds. Most liberals are dead against it and leading laborites predict that the labor party also will take a stand against it.

HAWES RESIGNS.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—Representative Hawes, democrat, Missouri, Tuesday resigned his membership in the house, effective next fall, to become a candidate for the senate.

French Woman Is Convicted Of Poisoning Eleven

NIMES, France, April 28.—(AP)—Convicted of poisoning her lover and eleven other persons whom she had been called upon to nurse during illness, Antoinette Scierri, 35, has been sentenced to die on the guillotine.

It is not probable that the woman will pay the extreme penalty as in all cases since the World war the president has commuted to life imprisonment death sentences passed upon women.

Circumstances surrounding the crimes for which Mme. Scierri wts convicted, were especially brutal. It was charged that on the night of her lover's death she watched him die and the nenlaged in a drunken orgy. Robbery was believed to have been the motive.

Y. W. C. A. Opposes Modification Of Prohibition Law

MILWAUKEE, Wis., April 28.—(AP)—Definitely aligned by their action Tuesday with the forces opposing the attempt to modify the Volstead act and proponents of worldwide peace, the Young Women's Christian association of the United States of American completed its biennial task.

Acclaimed by resolutions as the "epoch making convention," the sessions that opened last Wednesday were concluded yesterday afternoon after the 1,500 delegates from 850 cities from every state in the union had completed the closing routine business.

Speculation concerning the attitude the women would assume toward what was pronounced as a "serious situation in the United States" was terminated when the convention by rising vote expressed opposition to the sale of light wines and beer.

By resolution they expressed belief that legislation of the sale of light wines and beer would not only bring back the saloon in some form, but would tend to nullify the Eighteenth amendment. They pledged the hearty co-operation of the Y. M. C. A., "not only for law enforcement but for the building of intelligent sentiment for law observance."

Outstanding among the subjects that will be studied by the national committee on the causes and cure of war composed of representatives of eight women's organizations was approved by the convention.

PROWLER SLAIN.

BILLINGS, Mont., April 28.—(AP)—An unidentified man, surprised in an attempt to rob a store at Park City, twenty-six miles from here, was shot and killed last night by Deputy Sheriff Levi Colgrove. Colgrove, on special duty in the store, hearing the prowler enter, ordered him to throw up his hands. When the command went unheeded the deputy fired. He was later exonerated at an inquest held in Park City.

JURY DISAGREES ON WHITTEMORE

Buffalo Veniremen Report Deadlock In Case Of "Candy Kid" Bandit.

Underworld Leader Now Faces Trial For Murder At Baltimore.

BUFFALO, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—A jury which tried him for the murder of two bank guards having disagreed, Richard Reese Whittemore, the "candy kid" of the underworld, today seemed likely to be sent to Baltimore to be tried for killing a penitentiary guard.

The jury was discharged last night after deliberating twenty-nine hours. In Baltimore State's Attorney Herbert R. O'Connor said he would ask an immediate waiver of charges by New York and Buffalo to permit Whittemore's removal.

They had devised, he said, a perfect crime system, and had set themselves a goal of a billion dollars.

New York released Whittemore to Erie county to be tried on the more serious charges of murdering two bank guards in a $93,000 holdup last October. His wife, called the "tiger girl," released in New York, was present when the jury reported and so was her father-in-law, Rawlings Whittemore of Baltimore.

Four witnesses testified they saw the daylight robbery of an armored car and that Whittemore carried a black satchel filled with the spoils.

The driver of the car and a patrolman who saw the shooting failed to identify Whittemore. Defense witnesses declared Whittemore was in Philadelphia the night before the shooting and in New York that afternoon.

The Maryland indictment charges Whittemore with killing Robert W. Holtman with a piece of lead pipe while escaping from the penitentiary February 20, 1925.

The outcome of the trial was greeted with a burst of applause by some 300 persons who had waited patiently for the verdict.

There was no indication as to how the jury stood, although a member of the jury requested the court to take a poll. The court said this was not permissable in a murder trial.

The jury had been out twenty-nine hours, but actual debate consumed not more than fifteen hours. The jurors pledged themselves to secrecy and no information could be obtained how the balloting went on the final vote.

CALCUTTA, India—(AP)—Ten persons were killed and fifteen injured Tuesday in a resumption of rioting between Hindus and Mohammedans. Sporadic fighting between the two factions had been going on for the past few days.

INTRODUCE GROUP OF NEW COACHES

Pierce-Arrow Announces New Development In Auto Body Design.

An entirely new development in automobile body design was announced today by the Pierce-Arrow Motor Car Co., with the introduction of a complete group of custom-built coaches. Both bodies and chassis are the product of the Pierce-Arrow shops.

Included in the group are a seven-passenger, four-door coach, the first of its type in America, priced at $3,350; a seven-passenger limousine coach, priced at $3,450; a five-passenger, four-door coach, priced at $3,250; and a five-passenger, two-door coach, priced at $3,150; all prices being exclusive of government tax and freight.

"The new coaches will not replace any of the present body types in the Series 80 line, but are an addition to it," said Card-Adams, the local distributor. "This brings the number of body types in the Series 80 line to a total of eleven.

"The coach models are mounted on the standard series 80 six-cylinder chassis, no change having been made in the mechanical specifications of the car."

This latest move of the Pierce-Arrow Co., is the result of the success with which the company met in developing the five-passenger coach along custom-built lines. A model of this type was introduced less than a year ago and achieved such popularity that its sale exceeds that of any other Pierce-Arrow models.

Like all Pierce-Arrow closed cars, the coach models are hand-built of northern white ash and thick aluminum plates. Laminated joints, two and one-half times stronger than the ordinary mortise and tenon joint, are used throughout the framework wherever twisting and weaving strains occur, thereby climinating squeaks and rattles. Because of the 130-inch wheelbase, the interior is unusually spacious.

Pierce-Arrow four-wheel brakes, which operate without toggle or complicated universal joints, are standard equipment, as are balloon tires, Houdaille shock absorbers, bumper and winterfront.

MARY CODY DECKER DEAD.

"Yes Sir, Karnak Beats 'em All by a Long Shot"

"When I Started On This Medicine My Troubles Seemed To Know They Were Whipped And Soon Disappeared Completely," Says Prominent Farmer.

"I want to say, without a doubt, this Karnak is the best medicine ever made," declares G. W. Kurtzer, prominent farmer of Haxton, Colo., while visiting relatives in Lincoln, Neb.,

"I want to tell you the agony I suffered with indigestion and stomach troubles was something awful," continues Mr. Kurtzer. "Believe me, it is torture to want to eat, and just know it will nearly kill you afterward if you do.

"I had dull heavy headaches that ardly ever left me and kept me wake for hours at night, and unable to rest. I'd get so dizzy everything seemed to whirl around before my eyes and look blurred.

"There was such a heavy feeling in the pit of my stomach all the time that I began to fear it might be a growth. I was awful sore and weak through my back in the region of my kidneys also, and I got so rundown and all in that I had to quit work. I tell you, I was sure discouraged.

"But when I started taking Karnak my troubles seemed to know they were whipped, and just disappeared completely by the time I finished my fourth bottle of the medicine. Now I haven't got an ache or pain left, and am in the pink of condition all over. My son is now taking Karnak after seeing what it did for me, and it is doing wonders for him, too. Yes sir, Karnak just beats 'em all by a long shot."

Karnak is sold in Lincoln exclusively by the Harley Drug Co.; in Havelock by the Baker Drug Store; and by the leading druggist in every town.—Advertisement

Keeps House—Makes $70.00 Profit on Chickens

Read what one woman can do: "I had pains (gas) in my side and could hardly work. Was told I had female trouble. Two weeks after I began taking Adlerika I felt better. Now I do my own housework, raised $70.00 worth of chickens and worked two gardens." (Signed) Mrs. O. Kindrick.

Many people keep the OUTSIDE body clean but let their INSIDE body stay full of gas and poisons. Give the inside a REAL cleansing with the mixture of buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as sold under the name of Adlerika. This acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel, eliminates metabolic poisons and removes old matter which you never thought was in your system, and which caused sour stomach, nervousness, sleeplessness, headache, etc.

Whenever you eat too much heavy food, let Adlerika REMOVE the undigested surplus and leave you feeling fine. ONE spoonful relieves GAS and takes away that full bloated feeling. Even if your bowels move every day, Adlerika brings out much additional matter which might cause trouble. Don't waste time with pills or tablets but let Adlerika give your stomach and bowels QUICK relief.

What Doctors Say

Dr. G. Eggers reports Adlerika is the best medicine he has used in 37 years.

Dr. W. H. Bernhart writes he could not get along in his practice without Adlerika.

Dr. J. J. Weaver, a doctor for 50 years, says he knows no medicine better than Adlerika.

Dr. L. Langlois prescribes Adlerika regularly with GOOD effect.

J. E. Puckett writes: "After using Adlerika I feel better than for 20 years. A WHITL impurities were elliminated from my system."

Adlerika is a big surprise to people who have used only ordinary bowel and stomach medicines, because of its REAL and quick action. Sold by leading druggists everywhere. In Lincoln by Harley Drug Co. and other leading druggists.—Advertisement.

HALF OF ALFALFA GROWTH IS LOST

Heavy Damage Is Suffered By Crop In Central Platte Valley.

(Special to The Star.)

KEARNEY, Neb., April 28.—Perhaps as much as fifty per cent of the alfalfa acreage in the Platte valley has been damaged, if not winter killed, according to an estimate by County Agent Joe Warnick, following a thorough investigation. The cause is somewhat of a mystery, and state experts are due here Friday to inspect the infested fields.

For the most part alfalfa growers are plowing and reseeding the damaged acreage. Fields that even spring rains, badly needed, will fail to revive them.

The damage was first perceptible in patches, then gradually spread until whole fields have been taken in and apparently the entire growth killed.

J. W. Rose, of Elsbeam, and other extensive growers of alfalfa submit the theory that the alfalfa went into the fall and winter in poor condition, following very heavy rains during the last year. This had a bad effect on the plant root and not developed. Many spring rains this year might have revived life in some of the plants, but instead weeks of dry weather and high winds have been experienced, inflicting additional damage.

There has also appeared a weed parasite, but this has been found only on the alfalfa acreage which already appears to have suffered from drouth.

The winter wheat acreage has likewise suffered considerable damage from high winds and a lack of moisture. For weeks wind whipped over the central part of the state, carrying up much of the wheat acreage with a fine silt and in some cases, particularly the newly sown regions, blowing out the plant and seed kernels.

Rain is badly needed, the last dry period being broken only by a light shower which fell last week and hardly had any effect upon soil conditions.

Odd Fellows Hold A Celebration On 107th Anniversary

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., April 28.—Speech from hundred odd Fellows and Rebekahs attending the district meeting at the Odd Fellows hall in honor of the founding of the I. O. O. F. in America which was held at Fairbury Monday. Many prominent visitors were present representing lodges in Thayer and Jefferson counties.

Frank A. Dunbar of Beatrice spoke at the afternoon session which was open to the public. A parade and a concert by the Beatrice band on the courthouse lawn were a part of the afternoon program. Senator Llewellin of Burchard was also one of the speakers at the meeting. The Rebekah lodge put on the initiatory work.

In the evening the Rebekah lodge were in charge of a program which consisted of musical selections, readings and speeches. Lunch was served by the women. A similar celebration will be held by the Beatrice lodge Friday evening. Cuba Rest. and entertained the lodges of that district 30 days.

Farlow Is Again Beatrice Mayor

BEATRICE, Neb., April 28.—(Special Telegram.)—Farlow was elected mayor of Beatrice at the annual election held Tuesday. Farlow succeeds Ralph Thompson, who retires after serving two terms as mayor. Farlow is a former resident of Lincoln, where he was employed by the Burlington railroad company. He is now engaged in the real estate business here. He succeeds A. R. Ellis, retiring mayor. The water light and sewer commissioners were elected.

Police Chief Dan Arens, City Clerk Lemmon, Fireman and Fire Chief Harry Whitacre were reappointed. Action on the appointment of a city purchasing agent was deferred.

Varicose Veins Reduced or Money Back, Say All Druggists

Simple Home Treatment That Is Giving Amazing Results.

This warns sufferers. Today all varicose veins that look ugly and cause pain can now be ended in a few days. If you have varicose veins or bunches you can start today to drive them back to normal size, and if you are wise you will do so.

Get an original bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil at any dispensing pharmacies and apply it night and morning to the inflamed veins. It is very powerful and penetrating, and but a little is required.

After a few days' treatment the veins will begin to grow smaller and by regular use will soon reduce to normal.

Moone's Emerald Oil is also a most valuable healing agent, one application of which relieves at once the distress of eczema, and a few applications cause the eruptions to dry up, scale off and completely disappear. It is equally as effective in chronic itch, salt rheum, pimples and inflammation of skin troubles.

People with weak or aching varicose veins or sores on any part of the body, or those in a run down condition, should not hesitate to get a bottle at once. It is so powerful that a small bottle lasts a long time, and everyone can sample and prove its merits. —All druggists sell lot of it.—Advertisement.

Y. M. CONVENTION ON AT FREMONT

Speakers On Boys' Work Occupy Time At Opening Session.

FREMONT, Neb., April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—The fortieth annual convention and third electoral district meeting of the Young Men's Christian association opened here this afternoon. Addresses on boy's work or state and nationally prominent Y. M. C. A. workers featured the opening session which was presided over by Fred Grothen, Lincoln.

Today's program called for addresses by Leonard Paulson, St. Louis, regional boys' work secretary; H. F. Smith, Lincoln, boys' work executive; C. L. Vesey, general secretary, Hastings; F. F. Knapp, St. Louis, regional secretary of town and country boys' work and W. H. Lesak, Fairbury, county boys' work secretary. The Rev. E. V. Adams, Fremont, opened the convention with devotional services.

Vernon E. Bailey, president of the Fremont Y. M. C. A., will preside at the annual convention banquet tonight, at which Mr. Paulson will be the principal speaker.

Ask Approval of 109 Acre Addition To College View

Court approval for annexation of 109 acres to the village of College View is asked in a petition filed Wednesday in district court.

Owners of the land which lies at the northeast corner of town are Harry A. Morrison, Jessie M. Morrison, Clara Hightberger, Samuel C. Wightman, Christopher Kuhlen and Jessie Sumner. It is described as "irregular tracts 1 ft. 116 and sw. 1-4 se. 1-4 et 6-9-7." The formal application is made that this property will benefit materially of annexed because of light, water, sewers, police and fire protection services offered.

Ask Changes In Zone Ordinance

Two reports on changes in the zoning ordinance were filed with the city clerk Wednesday morning. One asks that the property bounded by 17 and 18 and Fourteenth and Sixteenth streets be changed from residential classification to commercial. The other asks that the apartment classification of the property bounded by Elm, Davis and the alley south of B street be changed to an industrial classification.

To Investigate Combination of Charity Work

Among week-end visitors in Lincoln were Dr. and Mrs. E. L. Marion, of Hanghow, China. Dr. Marion is a professor at Hangchow Christian college, which is maintained by the Presbyterian church.

Dr. Marion does not consider the political situation in China at all hopeless. There is a great body of students who will soon be able to save China a government, he believes. General Feng is not only a good Christian, but is a thorough patriot, says Dr. Marion, and although his army was defeated by Wu Pei Fu and Chang Tso Lin, he will be a power for peace. He is working with a committee of citizens which is urging W. W. Yen, a Christian, to become the new premier.

Dr. Marion gave a glowing description of General Feng's Christian army. His soldiers are forbidden to drink, gamble, swear or smoke. He and several of his officers have become evangelists and a school has been established in the army for religious training. General Feng's ideal is Abraham Lincoln.

An unfortunate tendency is the development in a militarist attitude among the students, says Dr. Marion. Hearing of the intense nationalism in western countries since the war, the Chinese are changing from their normal attitude of good will and internationalism and many students are demanding military training in the schools.

Rumor Corrick to Run For Congress

Rumor was heard at the capitol Tuesday that Frank P. Corrick of Lincoln might enter the republican primary congressional race in the First district for which Stark Anderson, Nemaha and Fred J. Kosmata are already filed. Some of Mr. Corrick's friends are said to have discussed the matter with him. When asked about his prospective candidacy, Mr. Corrick said he had not made up his mind one way or the other.

As is now chairman of the Lincoln republican committee, Mr. Corrick was chairman of the Coolidge committee in Nemaha county years ago. It is taken for granted that if Corrick should decide to run for congress he will at once set a pace from Nemaha for the material administration and its policies. He has a personal acquaintance with the president and with other influential party leaders in Washington.

It was reported recently that the president desired to appoint Corrick to the position of register of the national treasury, but that Senator Howell of Nebraska blocked such action by withholding the recommendation or approval of some old political differences dating back 15 years or more.

Show Complete Process Making Daily Newspaper

Lincoln school children and their parents are to have an opportunity to witness a complete process in getting out their favorite daily newspaper, from the time the manuscript copy arrives at the composing room, being changed to type, the making of duplicates, a rolled out edition before noon and a complete newspaper before school is dismissed for the day.

Dr. Ray H. Hunt and George Fowler of the local Rotary club conceived the idea Thursday afternoon and made the proposition after a short discussion. A meeting of the executive committee of the Lincoln Public Schools will be held this afternoon when the proposition will be considered. The Lincoln Star is also considering the proposition and it is expected that the plan will be put into effect.

Those who are behind the movement say that it will be a great educational feature for the children. They will be able to see how the paper is made up, how the pictures are made and how the paper is printed and delivered. Many of the children have never seen the inside of a newspaper office.

Veteran Lincoln Fireman To Be Retired June 1

A. M. Tracy, Elsie fireman city employe and member of the fire department for twenty-one years, has made application to the city council to be retired June 1. He is a member of Hook and Ladder No. 1. The request will be granted, John Wagner, commissioner of public safety, said Thursday.

Before the time for the public employ for twenty-one years, having served as both policeman, detective, sergeant, fireman and as a member of the fire department and also as a guard at the state prison. In the time he has been employed by the city Tracy has never lost a day from duty because of any fault of his own.

Tracy's service as a fireman dates back to November 4, 1904. When he retires he will have the grade of machine and pay of $175 per month. There are now twelve firemen on the retired list.

Auburn Oil Suit For Trial May 10

Attorney General Spillman has received notice that the injunction suit against the Standard Oil Co. at Auburn, to prevent price discrimination between different localities, will be heard by Judge C. B. Raper in the Auburn court May 10. A temporary restraining order is now in effect and the gasoline war at Auburn has ceased, although local dealers there are selling below the price made by the larger companies.

Briefly Told News From The Wires

LINCOLN, Neb., April 28.—(Special Telegram.)—Chancellor Avery of the University of Nebraska announced today that a scholarship in memory of an unknown man killed in the world war, recently founded by the students of the college of engineering and architecture of the university, will start Thursday when a fund of $100 will be raised by the student body. Dean Engberg of the college of engineering and architecture and head of the university relief fund, said that Thursday a call would be issued to the students for a "subscription" dinner, under which each student who had been enrolled in the university previous to the time he entered the service will be asked to contribute a dollar as part of the initiation into a campus society.

COPENHAGEN, April 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—Dr. Edwin Burt, Methodist Episcopal bishop of Scandinavia and Russia, died suddenly Tuesday when the minister of justice refused to grant him permission to visit Methodist headquarters in the United States before he served his sentence of three months' imprisonment. Dr. Burt's secretary believes a diplomatic solution will be able to prevent the death of his chief. Dr. Burt was convicted last month and sentenced on a charge of failure to report Estonian Pastor of Helsingfors, Finland, and Resident of Switzerland, declining advancements. The state has appointed Bishop Burt, but the Methodist church will appeal this.

FRUITS OF A SYSTEM.

Former Governor James M. Cox cynically disposes of speculation as to his future political course by announcing he is out of the game for good because one has to stoop to practices which the average man abhors and shuns.

"I think the man who is out of public life is a most fortunate person," the democratic candidate for president in 1920 said "for the reason it is an era of intellectual dishonesty and hypocrisy."

While Mr. Cox's sweeping indictment is not an altogether fair analysis of political conditions throughout the country, it must be admitted there is much to substantiate his interpretation of political life today. Politics has fallen into disrepute because men seeking public office have been politicians first and all the time. They have placed too high a premium upon success at the polls and too low a valuation upon honorable defeat. Individually and as parties they have sought to win regardless of methods and policies.

Inherently the conditions Mr. Cox describes can be traced to the change in political systems in America. If this is an era of intellectual dishonesty and hypocrisy, it is very largely attributable to the direct primary, which too often has brought success to the candidate given to making the most glittering promises. A great many men, representative of the most able and the most constructive forces in the community, refuse to submit their political fortunes to the fickle elements involved in the primary contests. They will not resort to the methods so generally popular among politicians and so frequently successful. It is not an uncommon spectacle to find candidates for high office promising that which in the very nature of things is both uneconomic and impossible.

The primary system was very generally adopted in America to eliminate the evils of the boss-ridden convention plan. There can be no dispute over the abuses of the old plan. It did permit sinister and menacing forces in many instances to exercise an influence which was hostile to public welfare. But it did not reduce politics to the quagmire into which it has fallen under it. Men were not compelled to resort to the subterfuge and deceit and hypocrisy which has characterized political life in the last two decades.

Mr. Cox has been a liberal thinker throughout his entire political career. He gave the state of Ohio good government during the time he served it as governor for three terms. He did much to correct the wrongs which had crept into the administration of affairs of the commonwealth, notorious for bossism and corrupt politics. But Mr. Cox has also been an extremely successful business man. He owns and directs three great newspaper properties and has numerous other interests. As a business man he cannot adapt himself to the present-day ways of politicians and so he is through with the game.

Mr. Cox' case was an isolated one, it might be interpreted as a "peeve" over the smashing defeat which he received in 1920. But it is not. In every state of the union, there are thousands of men and women who look upon politics in the same fashion Jimmy Cox now regards it. He is but one of many who refuse to permit themselves to be dragged into a game where it is becoming increasingly difficult each year for a man to retain his selfrespect and at the same time conduct a successful campaign for office.

WHAT CAUSED THE WRECK.

At a time when most of the principal western railroads are enjoying a prosperous business, with the biggest sustained volume of freight car loadings in their history, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul is to be sold under receivership. The financial troubles which overwhelmed that carrier a few years ago are now about to culminate in a complete reorganization. Of course, the stockholders will lose a considerable part of their investments in the process.

If the troubles of the Milwaukee were due to business depression in its territory, or to decreased patronage, or any other external factor, conditions of the same kind would undoubtedly have been experienced by other transportation companies serving the same region. The fact appears to be that its situation is in no small measure due to overexpenditure in building the new line to the Pacific coast through an undeveloped part of the country, and its participation in other unwise projects such as the construction of a $75,000,000 union station at Chicago.

The Northern Pacific, the Great Northern, and the Canadian Pacific, which parallel the Milwaukee system on both sides of the boundary line, have all been doing well the last several years. Further south, the Burlington, the Union Pacific, and the Santa Fe have maintained their position among the best paying lines in the United States, while the Missouri Pacific has retrieved itself from the bankruptcy of half a dozen years ago, and the Northwestern and the Rock Island are on the up grade with a steadily increasing volume of traffic and net earnings.

It seems clear from the collateral record that the Milwaukee would today be sharing the prosperity of the other roads if its management had been a little more conservative about borrowing against the future to stimulate a hothouse growth.

There was no crying need for another transcontinental line through the sparsely settled states of North and South Dakota, Montana and Idaho when the Milwaukee embarked on its ambitious construction program 10 or 12 years ago. The only apparent reason for its building in that territory was a desire to establish itself in a new field and become a rival of the other cross country carriers.

Before that time, the Milwaukee system was well established in Illinois, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, and the Dakotas, and it had an outlet from Nebraska, at Omaha. It was one of the leaders in its field and a source of profit to its owners. A program of gradual expansion would doubtless have kept it on a solid financial footing.

But the desire of the managers to reach out into a new realm proved its undoing. The existing properties were heavily encumbered and many millions of dollars of new interest-bearing securities were sued to meet the cost of building through to the coast. Even then, the management chose the most expensive form of construction by electrifying a long section of its new main line through the mountains. Not only the original investment there, but the type of equipment necessary for electrical operation, made this venture an exceedingly heavy drain upon the system revenues.

The road ... an immense amount of free advertising on account of its prodigious outlay in building a line that was said to be the last word in modern engineering and construction methods; but unfortunately the country traversed by this trunk was not rich enough to furnish the traffic needed to sustain it and pay the interest on the huge indebtedness. When the Milwaukee sank another $25,000,000 of its cash or more in the palatial Chicago station, it was the last straw that broke the camel's back.

GROWING REINDEER MARKET.

Tourists in Seattle last summer, who inspected the cold storage warehouse at the port were treated to what was to them a novel sight. In the month of July they might see the frozen carcasses of 1,800 reindeer, waiting to be shipped to the markets of the country. Last spring 3,600 reindeer were slaughtered in Alaska and sent to the states, but all have now been disposed of.

A dispatch from Nome says that a herd of several thousand of the animals just selected from a roundup near Buckland is now moving toward Golavin, where they are to be slaughtered. The meat will hang in cold storage to await the first ship from Seattle, upon which it will be sent to that port to remain frozen until disposed of.

It is believed that more than twice as many reindeer will be slaughtered this spring as last, for the market in the states is steadily expanding. Reindeer has during the last year been a popular delicacy in the fashionable restaurants and hotels of the east and has been served as a novelty at banquets all over the country. Reindeer owners believe that in five years a heavy demand will have been created for their product, which they claim is "as juicy as beef and as tender as veal."

The drive of a reindeer herd is described as tedious because the animals must be allowed five hours twice daily to linger and dig in the snowy tundra for the moss or lichens upon which they subsist. A great corral of small poles and burlap is built at the end of the route, in which the animals are kept until slaughtered. This enclosure is large enough to provide moss for several days while awaiting slaughter. Food is the smallest item in the expense of raising and marketing reindeer, for it costs practically nothing. The item of transportation is greater than all others combined, though a considerable must be added for storage in Seattle before all of the carcasses are disposed of.

Fat reindeer meat is more thoroughly enjoyed by the Eskimo than any other kind. They eat the suet with the greatest gusto and little boys are said to crack shins for the marrow. The parts which the white man is first to discard is the most eagerly sought by the northerner. Reindeer become so fat during the late winter than nearly 100 pounds of fat has been taken from a single animal.

GANG-RIDDEN CHICAGO.

Close on the heels of Mayor Dever's dramatic and spirited defense of Chicago before the congressional committee investigating the working of the prohibition law, comes the shooting and killing of a public prosecutor in the Windy City.

The murder of a youthful assistant state's attorney in Chicago Tuesday night is the most shocking development in the lurid trail of crime which has focused public attention in recent months. It climaxes the defiant, sullen attitude of the lawless elements in Chicago towards the orderly processes of the law.

Discovery of the man or men who murdered William McSwiggin is a duty resting upon the law enforcement officers of Chicago. No doubt the trail will be followed to the end, and the guilty ultimately apprehended. Yet the arrest, conviction and punishment of those guilty of this outrage will not satisfy the nation. Chicago should be given a thorough cleaning. It must be rid of its gangsters and thugs and bandits and made safe for people who respect the law and order to live. In this people of the entire nation have an interest second only to that of those who make their homes there. If necessary, Chicago should be placed under martial law, a sufficient force mustered to ferret out the criminal gangs and to bring them to justice. If Chicago is not equal to this task herself, she should call upon the federal government for assistance. The McSwiggin incident should and may prove to be the necessary incentive for Chicago to dedicate herself to a real housecleaning.

LOWER MONEY RATES.

Reduction in the rediscount rate of the New York City reserve bank last Thursday followed in the natural course of events which have been transpiring in Wall street for some weeks. The action of the reserve bank came after a sweeping decline in the open money market which carried Wall Street rates, for credit accommodations of even six and nine months, 1 per cent below that on March 1. The interest is now the same as was maintained last summer.

A large number of wiser and sadder speculators can now view the warning against the excessive use of credit in stock market speculations which the increase in bank rates sounded. At the close of 1925, the increase in loans of member banks in the New York district for stock and bond purchases had mounted to $1,091,000,000 over the year before. New York banks alone carried loans of this character greater by $466,000,000 than the year before.

The rapid and drastic decline of the stock market has greatly eased the situation.

Loans on stocks and bonds by all reporting members of the Federal Reserve system for that district are $503,000,000 less than they were during the last week in December. They are but $548,000,000 more than a year ago, a very appreciable improvement. The readjustment of the federal reserve rate of discount in New York has no other significance than adjustment to general money market conditions. The demand for money having materially eased, it is but natural that the rates should be lowered.

More Truth Than Poetry.

SHOW 'EM YOUR GOODS.

It's a salesman's job, this nailing down success:
You've got to sell your stuff to make the grade;
Good fortune will avoid your hut unless
You find yourself a market, unafraid.
The good mechanic has to sell his skill,
The merchant has to sell his merchandise;
The miller sells the product of his mill,
The wise man sells the fact that he is wise.

The actor never gets a chance to act,
Unless he sells his fitness for a part;
The policeman has to sell his tact,
The artist must learn how to sell his art.
The leader has to sell his leadership,
The science kept unsold is of no use;
You cannot get success within your grip
Unless you sell the thing that you produce.

The doctor will not need an anteroom
Before he sells his wisdom and his worth;
The world would wallow in unlighted gloom
If salesmanship were banished from the earth.
The preacher has to sell that which he knows,
The lawyer sells his knowledge of the law;
The fighter's purpose is to sell the blows
He lands upon the other fellow's jaw.

No man can be progressing anywhere
Who does not dare to try to sell himself;
The greatest book would be a poor affair
If left to gather dust upon a shelf.
Learn how to travel highways that are rough;
The timid in secluded places dwell;
Go boldly forth, old man, and sell your stuff—
That is, if you have anything to sell.

Diet and Health
By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

THE TOOTHBRUSH

J.—A toothbrush should be small enough to reach the surface of the last teeth in the mouth and go under the tongue when cleaning the inside surface of the teeth. A brush having uneven bristles will undoubtedly clean the teeth better.

All of the toothpaste should be washed off the brush very carefully after using, and the brush then hung in a clean, dry and sunny place. It should be sterilized once a week, and a good way to do this is to fill the brush on the bristles with common salt and then place in a clean, sunny spot. Boiling, of course, will sterilize, but it may soften the brush too much. It is better to keep two brushes in use. That gives them time to dry and keeps them firm.

THIN FACE.

Mrs. M.—After you have reduced to normal, you can eat considerably more than you did while on your reduction diet, but you will always have to guard against overeating for your needs, for the same errors that produced overweight in the first place can do it again.

When you go back to your maintenance diet you always gain two or three pounds. This is due to the fact that the extra food causes the system to demand more water to be retained, to keep the blood and tissue fluids in the normal concentration. You can only tell what your maintenance diet is by watching your weight. Weigh yourself once a week, after you are down to normal weight. If you have gained, go on a low calorie diet the next day. You can use fruit juice or fruits and vegetables or milk, not averaging over 800 calories.

You'll find your face will plump up a little when you're on your maintenance diet. Even though it doesn't, you will feel so much better physically that you won't care.

Mrs. E. is troubled with gas in the intestines which seems to collect in a certain spot just a little above the navel. By pressing deep on this spot a deep throbbing can be felt. She wants to know if the gas causes this.

No, Mrs. E. What you feel is what anyone would feel by pressing on the abdomen (if it is thin enough!); that is, the throbbing of the abdominal aorta, the big blood vessel that is taking the blood to the lungs and abdominal organs.

Stop examining yourself, Mrs. E., and go to one who is competent to do it—that is, a skillful physician.

If you will send for our article on Balanced Diet it may help you. (Enclose self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request.) Your gas may come from the wrong diet, wrong feeding habits or some other disturbances.

SWEATING FEET.

Miss S.—If you will put an ounce of liquid formaldehyde into a quart of water, and rub a little of this solution on your feet, after washing and drying, once a day for aweek, and then once or twice a week and later less often—you wil find that your sweating feet will be improved.

F.—Our article on boils can be had by the request accompanied by a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Tomorrow—Answers to Correspondents.

My dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, NOT OVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

THE PEOPLE'S FORUM

Cowgill Carries the Torch.

Lincoln, Neb., April 26.

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: The recent request of the city council of Lincoln for more money to spend did not surprise me a bit. After the last campaign when Mr. Duncan got elected on the whitewing platform naturally municipal expenses should climb. Before election we saw Mr. Duncan carrying a broom. A picture now would show him riding in his second velour lined coach—a car which a large proportion of taxpayers cannot afford. Furthermore he wants to debate the abuse of city motor transportation instead of realizing that explanations are in order as there is nothing to debate. Other city employes crave coaches and naturally there must be more money to fritter away.

Whitewings cost seven times as much as modern pick-up sweepers, as progressive cities have found out. But Mayor Zehrung wanted common labor given jobs and was backed by Mr. Wright and Mr. Schroeder. Mr. Duncan, not being educated in street sanitary engineering, naturally favors the most expensive ways of cleaning streets. Jobs mean votes. The people of Lincoln elected him and naturally must pay the bills.

During the two years I was in the city hall Mr. Wright attended to lodge duties. He had no progressive ideas and did a minimum amount of work for the city. He sat at the council table while the fire department was fighting a big fire. The votes he got at last election shows that neglect of public duties is popular with Lincoln voters.

In brief, the people of Lincoln vote for commissioners without training in public business, a most highly specialized business, too, by the way. They vote for candidates who are pledged to do nothing and stand for nothing openly. They vote for candidates secretly pledged to protect special interests and those who devote most of their time to private business. Naturally untrained commissioners cannot handle a business as big as our city business and make a mess of things which is expensive, because they lack education and energy to pick a new man for the job and train him.

The whole system of the Lincoln city government is vicious and costly. Five separate kingdoms are maintained and war among themselves. There is no open discussion of public affairs in our council meetings. Questions are settled behind closed doors sometimes in whispers. Four commissioners appear to be in cahoots and work together for their mutual benefit. Even the present question of doubling city expenditures is being railroaded through at a special election where only those with an axe to grind will vote when it could easily have been put off until the primary election.

I am writing this letter because I want the people of Lincoln to realize that the government they are maintaining is costly in every respect. Under a council and city manager expenses could be cut at least $100,000 a year and a cleaner, better government secured. I hope they see the light before this special election and vote against giving our $2,000 a year politicians any more money to fritter away.

ALLEN P. COWGILL.

Why Call Them "Yankees?"

To the editor of the Lincoln Star: I note again the Baseball fiends are still assuming that the New York club is composed of "Yankees," and I rise to ask if you will please inform the public for my benefit and those who would like to know, why the New York club was named "Yankees."

The name "Yankee" was given to the first settlers of this country, who settled at Plymouth, Mass., and inhabited that part of Massachusetts and a part of Connecticut. There are no Yankees in existence unless their ancestors were natives of Massachusetts and Connecticut, and unless one was born in one of those states they are not considered as "Blue-Bellied Yankees."

As the Brainerd family were all natives of Massachusetts and Connecticut, and I having been born in the great city of Boston, Mass., the "Hub of the Universe," and the "Athens" of the western hemisphere, I am proud to know that I am one of the "Blue-Bellied Yankees," whom, of which this United States was founded.

HENRY ALLEN BRAINERD.

Favoring Europe.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 27.

To the Editor of the Lincoln Star: In your editorial of April 23 you "Hit 'em hard," but did not say it all. England now has bread made out of wheat for four cents a loaf and Germany has bread made out of Russian wheat and rye for two cents a loaf. To sell them our surplus at a loss would lower their cost of living still more and raise the cost of living for both the American producer and consumer.

A year ago I walked up and down the wharves of New Orleans all winter taking note of what was going out and coming in. Those abroad get a better grade of our lumber for twenty dollars a thousand than the Nebraska farmer can buy for a hundred dollars a thousand. Quoting Senator Howell, Nebraska is to be taxed over $235,872,000 to be given in the Italian debt settlement, to a dictator for preparing for another war.

Then there is Norris; stubbornly opposing the giving away of Muscles Shoals to a foreign syndicate. Is it not becoming evident that the Nebraska farmer cannot live another day unless Coolidge listens to their representative?

What good is out ten dollahs a day if it costs twelve to live while the German can work for six cents a day and save most of it and have more freedom, comfort and happiness than we have. In every American city the surrounding land is lying idle with "For Sale" signs on it. In any German city that land is in gardens. After working eight hours in a factory, the German works eight hours more in his garden and makes a living. Then for Sunday he has parks where he can sit with his family and friends, drink beer that warms him up in winter and cools him off in summer and say anything he pleases and put the rest of his wages in the savings bank and anticipate an old age pension. Now where are our parks, beer and free speech?

CUTS and SCRATCHES
Stop the smarting and hasten the healing by prompt application of

The worst joke I heard today was told to me by Judge Francis Winston of Windsor, N. C. He was former lieutenant governor of that great state, the most progressive state not only in the south, but in America. I met him at the big industrial exposition at Greenville, S. C. He is a little, short fat fellow, and known and liked by everybody. Everybody wanted me to meet the judge, and of course they made the judge tell some stories. He kept telling them, and finally he told them; "I am just like the fellow that went into the saloon and wanted a drink and didn't have any money, so he said 'Fill me up boys and have a lot of fun out of me.'" The judge knew they had him showing off. Well, I wish I could have listened to him all day. You can't beat the south for story tellers. You know those fellows don't just start in off hand to tell you a story like the amateur does. Something has to happen, and then they have one that is really apropos. And it don't make much difference to them what it is that happens. These men that were with us was telling the judge how well and young he looked.

"Yes, I guess so," said the judge. "It's like the fellow congratulating Methuselah on his birthday. He says to Methuselah; "Mat, how old are you today" Methuselah replied, "I am 925 years old today.' 'Well sir, you look just as young as you did 850 years ago.'"

Your stomach if not in good condition causes constipation

IF your Stomach and Liver are weak, your food is not digested. This causes food to be held up in your body. The usual result is constipation, which causes headache and severe gas pains. For 53 years, people have sensibly corrected this condition by using Chamberlain's Tablets for the Stomach and Liver. They help the digestive organs stop chronic constipation. Get Chamberlain's Tablets today at any Drug Store, only 25c.

Fondness For His Watch Saves Life Of Michigan Man

IRON RIVVER, Mich., April 26—Felix Normantowitch is fond of his gold watch, and he has been rewarded for the care he gave it. It saed his life in cave-in which caused the death of another man.

The cave-in occurred in the Forbes mine here. Normantowitch and Mat Cornowski heard a roar of sliding earth and a puff of air told them that the mine walls had fallen.

They rushed to the shaft, but Normantowitch went back for his watch, left on a timber. A moment later a timber fell, killing Cornoski where Normantowitch had stood. After being imprisoned for thirty hours Normantowitch was rescued Monday.

Wondered Why Breath Was So Bad

Brooklyn Miss Rose Dittmar writes — Every though I brushed my teeth and used a mouth wash my friends turned away when I talked and I wondered why my breath was so offensive, while people less careful were not troubled. After taking Carter's Little Liver Pills for a while the trouble started to disappear. I also noticed my face had better color and was clear as my eyes brighter, my appetite more hearty and I had no constipation." Bad breath must be reached at the source of the trouble. Keep Pimples away

When do you let those unsightly pimples, blackheads and blotches disfigure your skin and ruin your appearance? You can keep them away if you keep your system full of rich, red blood. And not only that, but the very texture of your skin will be soft and velvet like—and the coloring radiant as a rose.

It's all in the blood. And S. S. S. will help Nature keep your blood rich and red and pure.

Yes, you can keep pimples away, simply by taking S. S. S. That's a fact. The kind of red blood-cells that S. S. S. helps Nature build makes your skin beautiful—clears it up just like it puts firm flesh on your—brings strength to weak, flabby muscles—gives you an appetite like you used to have and generates the energy and vitality of youth throughout your entire system.

Fiery Georgian Back in Game With Same Old Punch

Ty Cobb Marching On to String of World Records

Georgia Peach Gets in First Game of '26 Season and Promptly Proceeds to Mallet Three Hits; Performance for the Day Smashes Five Marks Previously Entered to His Credit.

CHICAGO, April 28.—Ty Cobb, who topples over at least three baseball records every time he safely swings on the horsehide, stands a chance of setting new marks about a thousand times this season if he continues to play and holds the pace of his first start in the twenty-second year of his career in the majors.

The veteran pilot of the Detroit Americans, who holds more baseball records than anybody else in the game, started his first 1926 game with the Tigers yesterday, his previous appearances being as a pinch-hitter, and he clinched his team's victory over Chicago by his stickwork, and incidentally chalked up a whole hatful of new records. His single double and triple in four at-bats brought in four runs and Cobb scored twice himself.

Round of Record Smashing.

When Ty singled he bettered three batting marks previously held by himself—those of the most hits in any league, the most singles ever made by one major leaguer and the most total bases for one major league player, the latter record previously standing at 5,356.

Then he doubled, passing his old record of 1,036 extra long bingles, re-breaking his total for hits and the most bases and adding to another old Cobb record—that for the most extra bases on extended hits.

Five Records Boosted.

His three-bagger boosted five records—the four just reset by his double and his old total for triples. When he crossed the plate two times, he shattered still another mark, pushing up his total for the most runs ever scored by one big league player to 2,040.

The trick in it is that Cobb is so far out in front that he automatically boosts a series of top marks every time he hits. In addition there exists the possibility of his besting his lifetime batting percentage and his numerous "season" and "consecutive" records during the season.

Triangular Meet At Wesleyan Uni

A triangular meet between Nebraska Wesleyan, Doane college and Cotner college will be held at Johnson field in University Place Saturday at 9 a. m. Doane college won the Nebraska state conference title last year.

The three-cornered meet is called for the morning in order to enable the athletes and fans to watch the Missouri-Nebraska dual meet at the Memorial stadium Saturday afternoon.

Burch Rods Swing Bats; Win Opener From Izzy Crew

OMAHA, Neb., April 28.—(AP)—The Burch Rods outslugged the Wichita Izzies yesterday and won the opening game of the season, 13 to 9. Meyers, Omaha catcher, featured with two home runs. Wichita used three pitchers and Omaha two. Davenport, a former major leaguer, pitched six innings for Omaha and was relieved by Tinning. The score:

Demons Cashed In On Tulsa Errors And Won, 5 to 4

DES MOINES, Ia., April 28.—(AP)—Baseball fans in Des Moines numbering 5,213 paid the admission fee to yesterday's opening day game, which the Demons won from Tulsa, 5 to 4. Black pitched effectively for the Oilers, but costly errors presented the Demons with four runs. Claude Thomas went the route for Des Moines and helped win his own game by clouting a double and two singles. Weather conditions were detestable, a gale and dust storm raging during the game. Pirates Get To Alex; Shut Out Chicago Bruins

CHICAGO, April 28.—(AP)—Johnny Morrison held Chicago to two hits yesterday while Pittsburgh hit the Veteran Alexander and Rush opportunely to shut out the Cubs, 2 to 0. Three singles in the fifth gave the Pirates their first run and they scored on Rush in the ninth with two safeties and a sacrifice. Both fielded faultlessly, and the game was reeled off in an hour and 15 minutes. Score by innings:

LINKS ON LOSING END OF INAUGURAL

Zwilling's Outfit Scalped By Indians, 6 to 2, In Opening Combat.

Fiegert's Forkside Benders Had Home Club Guessing All Afternoon.

THURSDAY GAME AT THREE.

Final game of the Lincoln-Oklahome City series, scheduled for Thursday, will get under way at 3 p. m. The Indians are dated to play in Denver Friday, departing from Lincoln Thursday at six, which accounts for the half-hour advance in Thursday's starting time.

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

Everything was wrong and nothing right yesterday in the Links' first home appearance of the pennant campaign. A howling blast came from out of the far northwest to crab the fair weather predictions uttered by Uncle Sam's official forecaster, cutting a deep gash in the opening day attendance, and the result of the proceedings at Landis yard was equally distressing, as Manager Dutch Zwilling and his athletes were knocked down, 6 to 8, by the rampaging Indians from Oklahoma City.

Guy Cooper drew the pitching assignment for the Zwillings and the jinx was on him right from the kickoff. Hock's lofter toward short was blown by the gale into short center for a two-base blow. Funk's lofter to right, ordinarily a soft catch for our Mr. Blenkiron, sailed to the fence for three bases and a fluke run floated over the platter in the introductory frame.

Indians Busy With Bats.

Although the breaks favored the Indians all the way, the fact was quite patent that Cooper was not present with his customary skill. His curve ball was breaking over the middle of the plate and the Redskins were socking it with sickening frequency all afternoon. Armstrong, Hock, Moore and Graft were most persistent in pummeling the Spalding pellet, this quartet malleting nine of the dozen safe knocks credited to the Oklahoma City clan.

Cooper retired after the sixth round and "Specs" Houck toiled during two innings, while Jim Aydelott, the Stanford collegian, hurled the final stanza, rounding out his performance by whipping over a third strike on Chile McDaniel.

Fiegert Did His Stuff.

Fiegert, a recent Indian acquisition via the purchase route, left-handed the Zwillings into a state of complete somnolence. The forksider from the Michigan-Ontario loop whiffed nine of our Links and scattered with exasperating skill the eight hits garnered from his delivery.

The scoring efforts of the Links were confined to two innings. Haley doubled in the fourth, completing the circuit on singles by Gottleber and Wales, while the second run came over in the sixth on Gottleber's single and Kelly Walsh's three-baser to deep right.

Links Loaded the Sacks.

Free passes to Blenkiron and Mills jammed the bases, but Manager Dutch rolled the globule to Armstrong for the third out and the jig was up.

Fiegert was tight as a nut during the three final rounds, permitting only one Lincoln runner to glide as far as the first corner. The official statistics:

Oklahoma City.	AB	R	H	PO	A	E

NOTES OF THE GAME.

The Lincoln management appreciates the loyalty of the realtors of Nebraska's capital city, who turned out to participate in the parade preceding the game and occupied a special section in the grandstand, regaling the crowd with songs and cheers. The realtors evidently realize that Western league baseball is worth something to Lincoln.

Fairbury, the home of Outfielder George Bliss, also contributed a delegation, the members of which braved a 70-mile drive to the capital city. Bliss was given an uproarious greeting his first trip to the plate. Fairbury fans have given notice that they purpose to come often during the pennant season Bliss is the answer.

The jinx was on every Western league opening day game. Polar weather horned in when the northern teams kicked off in the south and Old Man Boreas fairly blew his lungs out when the southern clubs came north yesterday.

Many spectators came garbed in winter garments. Those who lacked that much foresight soon were shivering from the cold. The paid attendance was slightly under two thousand, which was two hundred more than the Links' opening crowd at Tulsa.

Elbert Fiegert, Jack Holland's new southpaw flinger, was wheeling a line of stuff about the corners of the plate that had the Links under subjection most of the afternoon. The new forksider compiled a string of nine strikeouts.

Fiegert hails from the Flint, Mich., club of the M. & O. loop. Kansas City gave him a spring tryout and turned him back. Jack Holland then jumped at the chance to buy the Flint pitcher's release. Fiegert won eleven and lost six last season. He comes to the Links as a non-veteran and certainly looked the part of a valuable acquisition.

Eddie Hock's bat was a prime factor in the Indians' triumph. The Oklahoma City shortstopper socked a single and two doubles.

The tailend of the Links' batting order accounted for six of their eight safe blows. Haley, Gottleber and Wales each smacked a pair of hits.

Groft, Indian catcher, likewise was swinging a wicked bludgeon, poking a triple his first time up and clouting for two bases his next trip to the plate.

Governor Adam McMullen was scheduled to stand up in a grandstand box and toss the first ball onto the field of play, but that method of inaugurating the proceedings evidently appealed to the executive as being too tame. What he did was to stride to the center of the diamond, take a real windup and wheel the Spalding apple squarely over the middle of the plate. The governor does his pitching from the portside.

The Links executed the only twin killing. Felber's high fly back of third was muffed by Gottleber, the wind blowing the ball over fair territory, but McDaniel bounced sharply to Mills and the double play was on.

That the Indians have speed is proved by a glance at the stolen base column. The Holland tribe swiped three sacks.

Lincoln fans remembered Manager Dutch Zwilling with a basket of roses the presentation punctuating the first inning when the Lincoln pilot stepped up to bat.

King Walter In Fine Trim; Nats Wallop Red Sox

WASHINGTON, April 28.—(AP)—Walter Johnson held Boston to four hits yesterday while the Senators were pounding out a 9 to 1 victory. Washington scored five runs in the third. Three of them came on Bluege's homer inside the park. Four more were added in the sixth on five hits. It was Johnson's third win in four starts. Score by innings:

Cobb's Bat Brings Victory.

DETROIT, April 28.—(AP)—The hitting of Ty Cobb, making his first start of the season, enabled Detroit to beat Chicago, 8 to 7, yesterday despite the ineffectiveness of both Holloway and Dauss. Cobb hit a single, a double and a triple in four times at bat, driving in four runs and scoring two himself. Score by innings:

Yanks Hammer Out a Win.

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP)—The New York Yankees smashed their way to another easy victory yesterday against the Philadelphia Athletics by a score of 8 to 2. Ed Rommel was driven from the mound with a five-run assault in the fifth inning. Ruth cleared the bases with a double. Score by innings:

									R	H	E
Philadelphia	0	1	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	—2	5	2

Brownie Rally Falls Short.

ST. LOUIS, April 28.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns rallied in the ninth yesterday for two runs to tie the score but the Cleveland Indians came back in the tenth with two more to win the game, 5 to 3. The Indians took the lead in the fourth when Summa poled a home run, scoring two ahead of him. Doubles by Jacobson and Hargrave enabled the Browns to even the count in the eighth. Benge's double, together with two singles and a sacrifice, constituted the Indians' winning punch. Score by innings:

Crete high school carried off the honors in the Havelock high school invitation track and field championships held at Ballard field in the shoptown suburb Tuesday afternoon. Coach "Pop" Klein's Saline county tracksters, however, had a narrow squeeze, Havelock scoring 47 1-2 points for runner-up honors.

A terrific gale swept over Ballard field and the athletes and spectators were forced to battle a dust storm. Nevertheless, the meet was plenty interesting to watch, Havelock and Crete fighting it out nip and tuck all the way. Havelock was trailing a half point when the final event—the high jump—got under way. Crete and Havelock entries failed to clear 5 feet in this event and the shoptowners lost their last opportunity to win.

Miller High In Points.

The 880-yard relay, with Havelock and Crete leading the procession, furnished the real excitement of the afternoon. The Havelock quartet was a few yards behind when Barrett handed the baton to George Miller, Havelock anchor. Miller picked off his opponent in ten yards and broke the tape with yards to spare.

George Miller was high point man of the afternoon with 25 points. He scored first places in the 100-yard dash, 110-yard low hurdles, broad jump and javelin throw. Miller was second in the shot put and third in the discus throw.

New Meet Records.

Nine new Havelock invitation meet records were established Tuesday. All previous records were made in 1925. The new marks:

100-yard dash—10 2-10 seconds by George Miller of Havelock, bettering his former mark of 10 4-10 seconds.

220-yard dash—24 2-10 seconds by Horky of Crete, bettering the 26 2-10 seconds by Wicina of Wilber.

Broad jump—19 feet 6 inches by George Miller of Havelock, bettering his mark of 18 feet 11 inches.

880-yard run—2 minutes 14 8-10 seconds by Stedtman of Crete, bettering the mark of 2 minutes 17 seconds made by Binger of Wilber.

60-yard high hurdles—8 8-10 seconds by Whalen of Crete, bettering mark of 9 8-10 seconds by George Warga of Havelock.

Pole vault—9 feet 10 inches by Morrison of Lincoln and Whalen of Crete bettering mark of 9 feet 6 inches by Kudlacek of Wilber.

880-yard relay—1 minute 45 seconds, bettering mark of 1:47 made by Wilber team last year.

Discus throw—105 feet by Tibbens, Ashland, bettering mark of 99 feet 4 inches made by T. Kuzelka last year.

Summary of Results.

Trust-Baiter Tips Off Hand of Mat Combine

(Rocky Mountain News:)

Joe (Toots) Mondt, known in wrestling circles as the "Colorado Cowboy," is soon to wear the "$1,000,0000-belt" emblematic of the championship of the Billy Sandow troupe of mat artists, according to J. C. Marsh of Chicago. Marsh has been a thorn in the side of the wrestling trust for many years and his ability to forecast events in connection with the operations of the combine has been little short of marvelous. Therefore, his prediction is worthy of notice and the fans will watch developments with interest to learn whether or not he has the right dope this time.

In a letter to The News, Marsh says that Sandow is laying plans now to switch the title. He declares that Malcewicz will first "defeat" Lewis and then Mondt will topple the Utica Panther.

Toots to Get That Crown.

"Don't laugh when I tell you that eventually Sandow is going to land that mythical crown on the red-headed Tooter," says the letter. "No, not direct from Lewis, but via the Lewis-Malcewicz-Mondt route. That is, Lewis will lose it to Malcewicz, and Malcewicz to Mondt.

"Now don't expect all this to happen in a week or a month. It takes time to pull these things, and while they are being pulled they also intend to still further pull the leg of the wrestling patrons. I feel that many of you will wonder why I reason thus, so I will try and tell you.

"In the first place, the public is tired of the stuff Lewis is handing out and most everyone is getting wise to his falling out of the ring stunt and his headlock hunk. He is fat and in no condition to wrestle. His eyes are so bad that he can scarcely tell his best friend a dozen feet away. He is also tired of the grind and as he is in partnership with Sandow and will get his cut whether he wrestles or not, he does not know quickly the Sandow title title is taken from him. And after that he can do a few fill-ins and meet some of his buddies whom he has never dared to meet while holding the mythical crown, namely, men like Evko and Prestina.

Sandow Makes Promise.

"The recent broadcasting by Sandow of his talking Mondt under his personal management was done for a purpose. Long ago Sandow had promised the Tooter that some day he would wear the crown which represented the championship of his combine. And now he is lining things up to make good on that promise. All wrestlers know that Mondt is Sandow's pet. That the Tooter has always been loyal to Sandow, done as told, whether the time be long or short, or his opponent good or bad. And soon he is to be rewarded by the czar for his loyalty.

"In the old cities where the trust has been operating, attendance is falling off and they will soon be opening up new territory the same as they opened up Denver last fall.

Seek New Territory.

"Did they tell you then that Mondt and Munn had met many times or that they had trained together, or that Lewis and Munn had met many times previous to their roly-poly stuff in Denver?

"Well, hardly. Sandow does not work that way. When they get ready for Mondt to win the title from Malcewicz or whoever wins it from Lewis (I think it will be Malcewicz), they will play up for weeks prevous to the match some new hold the Tooter has developed which has made him invincible. This coupled with the great (?) coaching from his corner by Sandow will enable him to beat any and all opponents said opponents, of course, will be under the control of Sandow-White and Bowser, with Sandow always the czar.

Toots Good Showman.

"Should Malcewicz take the crown from the Strangler I don't think he will be allowed to hold it long. According to the standards of the Sandow combine, he is not a showman. But the Tooter is. And, in my humble opinion, he is a much better wrestler than is Lewis. And a better wrestler is one of the all phases of the Sandow combine and Malcewicz and Mondt are in my estimation the two logical ones to use in switching the title.

"And now a few words to those of you who sometimes bet on these so-called contests. My advice is don't, but should change your mind come at the first meeting of Malcewicz and Lewis, and it may not come at all; wait and see. But some fine morning you are going to read that Colorado's own Toots Mondt has just won the Sandow hustle championship title—due mostly to the wonderful coaching of his manager, Billy Sandow.

Sandow's Coaching Bunk.

"All wrestlers know that any coaching by a manager from the corner is the bunk. And any time it is being done you can know the match is one of those things. But Sandow likes to attract attention. He wants to be known as being his champion. Hence his stunt of coaching from the corner.

"Watch how often you will read in the columns of the trust supporters that it looks like Lewis is slipping. That is done to alibi his losing. When the switch comes, he will take a much-needed rest and try again to regain his crown and million dollar belt. These things may not be pulled until next season, but I feel certain that they will happen, unless the government steps in and puts a stop to operations."

Tex Holds Trump Cards, But Won't Flash His Hand

Rickard Hiding Out; Lets Commish Guess His Plans

New York Promoter Evidently Has Ace in Hole, But Discreetly Declines to Tip Off His Hand; Has Everybody Curious as to Whether Wills or Tunney Will Get Dempsey Fight.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, April 28.—(I. N. S.)—This man's town was busy today seeking the joker which, as all Broadway knows, Tex Rickard must hold in order to have filled his hand on the Dempsey-Wills-Tunney situation. The draws have been made and the show down will come within a matter of days when Rickard either must voluntarily go before the state athletic commission and lay his cards on the table or be summoned arbitrarily for much the same purpose.

That Rickard has filled his hand and is not in the slightest danger of being caught out on a limb, no one doubts for an instant. An old gambler, he knows he has gone too far to escape being called, and yet he persists in going farther.

Taking Big Risk.

With his new cardom and all his New York interests at stake, he is betting everything on his ability to force a Dempsey-Tunney meeting against official opinion here and that, if he will do this, must be pretty well convinced that he cannot go wrong.

Rickard knows something that is not known by the state athletic commission, the writer or any one, with the possible exception of a favored few. This "something" furnishes the exact location of the joker in the deck and, whatever it is, takes the teeth out of the commission's threat to "dispossess" the promoter if he does what he probably has done already—match Dempsey and Tunney.

Tex Hiding Out.

Rickard arrived in town late yesterday with Dempsey's contract, made a noise like a rubber heel and disappeared. When cornered, he had little to say that was pertinent and nothing that was. He contrived to gain several days of grace by hiding out while the commission was in session, and later let it be known that he did not plan to go before the board until he had made a definite selection of Dempsey's opponent.

This was just so much sweet spirits of apple sauce. If the commission tells Rickard to come down at midnight, he will be there at 11:59 p. m. The time hasn't come for a test of power and, until it does, Rickard must play ball with the board.

Perhaps Smoke Screen.

While the guessing was at its heaviest today, it was reported that Rickard's negotiations with Dempsey and Tunney were just a smoke screen, behind which he planned to put over the Wills match. It was claimed that already he had awakened the commission into a notion where it could not back-track on its attitude toward Wills as the leading and only challenger; that if it did, the inference would be that its decision was prompted by those higher up and that Governor Smith couldn't afford to have such an impression get about.

In this connection, it might be mentioned that Governor Smith couldn't afford to have the match either.

Kaplan Gets Orders.

NEW YORK, April 28.—(I. N. S.)—The New York athletic commission, in session Tuesday, issued an order to Louis ("Kid") Kaplan, world featherweight champion, to defend his title against Bobby Garcia of Baltimore at the Queensboro Athletic club June 1. Word has been received by the commission from the Queensboro club officials that Kaplan wished to transfer the bout to Meriden, Conn., the champion's home town.

Garcia recently was sanctioned by the commission as a substitute in the bout for Johnnie Dundee, who is to undergo an operation today on his foot.

Sonny Monteith, Kaplan's manager, has been summoned to appear before the board at its next meeting to receive official notification of the ruling in favor of the Queensboro club fight.

Tiger's Fight Goes Over.

Upon a statement by Jess McMahon that Tiger Flowers is suffering from a bad eye, the world's middleweight championship fight with Harry Greb, scheduled May 17, was allowed to go by the boards for the time being.

Tex Rickard failed to put in an appearance at the commission's meeting. Statements that Rickard was planning to match the champion with Gene Tunney, in the face of orders from the commission that Tompsey first meet Wills, promised fireworks at the meeting had Rickard appeared.

Contracts between Ted Morgan, Seattle, and Kid Sullivan, junior lightweight, for their bout on May 28 at Ebbets field were received by the commission.

Walter Johnson pitched another classy game against the Red Sox, holding them to four hits while his mates pounded out a 9 to 1 victory. Bluege's home with two on put the game on ice.

Pirate Pilot Not Feazed by Dereat

CHICAGO, April 28.—(AP)—Bill McKechnie, who last year managed Pittsburgh's first pennant team since 1909 and is working to put over another world series winner this season, sees a turbulent race ahead in the National league, but adds "we're prepared for that."

To those who view the early season Pirate slump with gloom, McKechnie points to a similar start last year which wound up in a world's championship finish.

"I shouldn't care to make any guesses at this time," the Pirate chief said, "but I've always figured New York as the team to beat and I haven't had any reason to change my mind."

Marathon Winner Hero In Home Town

SYDNEY MINES, N. S., April 28.—(AP)—There was a holiday today in this mining town. It was Johnny Miles day.

Shrill music from three batteries of Scotch pipers was drowned in a roar of acclaim from thousands of throats when the hero of the Boston marathon came marching home last night.

The nineteen-year-old youth was the center of a cheering throng of 5,000. He received a "key" to the town from the mayor and heard his abilities praised for hours. A gold watch was among his many presents. He gave all the credit for his world record to his father and mother.

HUSKERS BORROW OLYMPICS STUFF

Athletes and Officials To Parade Saturday On Stadium Track.

The pomp and splendor of the great Olympics will be reflected at the University of Nebraska Memorial stadium Saturday afternoon when Nebraska and Missouri track teams clash in a dual meet.

The university of Nebraska athletic officials were completing arrangements Wednesday for a formal opening of the Cornhusker home track schedule, plans calling for a parade of athletes and officials at the stadium before the opening of the Saturday meet. The parade will be headed by the cadet band, which will furnish music throughout the meet.

Roster of Officials.

Athletic Director A. A. Schlademan of Creighton university will serve as official starter for the meet. Other men scheduled to serve as officials are Paul Johnson, Earl Johnson, Francis Flood, B. C. Wildman, Dick Newman, George Dayton, Wilbur Knight, Byron McMasters, A. E. Ashley, Louis Anderson, Herman Jones, Clifford Cunningham, Will French, E. E. Beare, O. E. Anderson, Gus Miller, Don Sell, Leo Schewe, W. C. Becker, Mathias Volz and Owen Frank.

Wind Bothers Tryouts.

The program of tryouts scheduled for Tuesday afternoon were put over a day when a driving wind and cold weather made the day disagreeable for track and field competition.

Touching the Bases.

The Giants took a struggle mild on first place by nosing out the Phillies, 9 to 8, overcoming a three-run lead and winning in the ninth on Meller's single.

Johnny Morrison blasted a two-bit smoke on the Cubs and the Pirates won 3 to 0. Grover Alexander pitched good ball for the losers but was in a tough spot.

Brooklyn and Boston staged a see-saw contest and when the row-d was lifted the Dodgers found themselves ahead by a score of 6 to 5. McGraw turned in his second victory of the season.

The teeth of Mr. Cornelius McGillicuddy threatened to crack under the strain of constant smashing as the Yankees bombarded Eddie Rommel for ten hits in five innings. The Yanks won, 8 to 1, Bob Shawkey allowing only five hits.

Due to the sensational batting of Ty Cobb, who got three hits in his first start of the season, the Tigers downed the White Sox, 5 to 3.

Cleveland kept pace with the Yankees, winning from the Browns in the tenth, 3 to 2. Benge, a rookie pitcher, helped win his own game with a double.

Dow Announces Wesleyan Grid Slate for 1926

Nebraska Wesleyan will bid for a North Central conference football championship next fall, according to announcement made Wednesday by Coach "Ben" Dow of the Methodist institution.

The football schedule arranged by Dow shows Wesleyan, although undefeated last season, has booked only two North Central games.

Five Nebraska conference games are one the grid card, indicating that the Methodists plan to confine their efforts largely toward winning a state college confusion next fall. The schedule:

Oct. 1—Luther college at University Place.
Oct. 8—Open.
Oct. 15—Peru Normals at University Place, Homecoming.
Oct. 22—University of South Dakota at Wesleyan.
Oct. 29—Midland college at Fremont.
Nov. 5—Simpson college at Indianola.
Nov. 12—Doane college at University Place.
Nov. 20—Des Moines university at Des Moines.
Nov. 26—Hastings college at Hastings.

SPRING GRIDDERS AT LINCOLN HIGH

Seniors Win Practice Game When McBride Plunges To Touchdown.

The spring football season at Lincoln high school closed this week with a practice game between the seniors and the spring squad. The seniors romped the verdict by a 19-0 touchdown.

Coach W. H. Browne played a center position for the senior aggregation, which included Bud McBride, "Dutch" Wiltse, Ernie Tindall and Maynard Weyand. Wiltse and Weyand carried the ball on the gridiron and McBride plunged across for the touchdowns.

The spring training season has been a most satisfactory one, Coach W. H. Browne said Wednesday morning. The spring squad showed plenty of weight for the linemen and indicates a strong forward wall next season. Coach Browne, however, is facing the task of developing a new backfield and hopes to perform the spring season for the backs the ball-lugging getting into suit several times each week until the school year ends.

Personnel of Senior Squad.

Members of the senior squad in this week's game were Dye and Burgard, ends; Martin and C. Tindall, tackles; J. Still and Gammon, guards; Brumm, center; Wiltse, quarterback; McBride, fullback; R. Still and Weyand, halfbacks.

Ends—Fisher, Townsend, C. Moore.

Tackles—Shold, Mason.

Guards—Folgen, Koster, Austin, Smithfield.

Center—Townsend, Bauer.

Quarterback—Kitchen.

Halfbacks—Emmell, K. Tindall.

Fullback—Parker.

"Pros" Plan Open Tourney In Omaha

OMAHA, April 28.—(AP)—Stanley Davies was elected president of the Nebraska Professional Golfers' association at a meeting here last night. Norman Sommers, Lincoln Country club, was named vice-president, and John Caldwell, Council Bluffs Country club, secretary-treasurer.

The executive committee will be composed of three officers and Bill Bachus, professional at Happy Hollow, and Charley Heartner, professional at Highland, here.

Plans were made for a state open tournament to be held in Omaha, dates for which were not set.

ENTRIES ROLL IN FOR ANNUAL MEET

Four Teams of Nebraska Listed to Compete In Cinders Fest.

The first entries for the annual Nebraska interscholastic track and field championships reached the University of Nebraska athletic department Wednesday morning when Cambridge, David City, Holbrook, and DuBois enrolled for the meet. The Nebraska championships will be held at the University of Nebraska Memorial stadium, May 7 and 8.

The Cambridge entry list includes Harold Trumble, present Nebraska interscholastic mile record holder. Trumble cleared the sticks in 15 6-10 seconds last year and is out to better the mark this season. He was clocked in 15 7-10 seconds in a Cozbenhore meet last week and has been doing 15 4-5 seconds consistently in his workouts on the Cambridge dirt track.

The Wednesday Entries.

Holbrook—Roland Keyes.

High School Numerals.

The following high school numeral awards were announced Wednesday morning at the University of Nebraska athletic department.

Full Mat—Verne Clinton of DuBois; Roy Bohnert, Clyde Bailey of Scottsbluff; Ed Tyner of University Place; Harold Bleadmer of Mc-Cook; Merle LaGrand of Tobias; Ervin Johnson, Clifford Ganow of Mema; Bernard Marquis, Lloyd Martin of Central City; William Kerr, Ted Masters, Fred Allen, John Pierson of Auburn.

Lincoln Hi Nine To Play Suburban Club Friday Game

Lincoln high and College View baseball clubs will cross bats at College View Friday afternoon, according to announcement made by Coach Swanson of the Red and Black nine.

The Friday lineup which will start for Lincoln high school will include Witte and Spangler, pitchers; Block, catcher; Bauer, first base; Dwyer, second base; Wacker, shortstop; Beuchner, third base.

The Lincoln club is scheduled to play at Greenwood May 7, at Seward May 8, and at Omaha Central, May 14. A return game here with Omaha Tech is scheduled for the week of May 17.

Members of the Lincoln baseball squad are divided into two leagues. In the "National league" the Brooklyn club is setting the pace with five victories in seven games. Cincinnati has won four of seven games, Pittsburgh three of seven games and New York two of seven games.

The "American league" clubs have played six games. Detroit is setting the pace with five victories. Cleveland and Washington have three wins each, while Philadelphia has won only one game.

Ace Getting Hot Poker In Coast Bouts

LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 28.—(I. N. S.)—Ace Hudkins, "the Nebraska Wildcat," will appear in two more fights in Los Angeles before going east to make his "fortune," Clyde Hudkins, his brother-manager, announced today.

One of the two scheduled bouts is with Johnny Adams, who received a disputed 10-round verdict over Hudkins two weeks ago.

(Note by Sports Editor: Fans interested in Los Angeles wrestling are a queer lot. Jimmy Wilkinson, who in the ring during the Adams-Hudkins wrangle, gave the decision to Adams, on account of the battle, published in four Los Angeles newspapers were unanimous in proclaiming that Hudkins was the victor and likely entitled to the verdict. Taking the word of the Los Angeles fight writers for it, Ace has been getting the hot end of the poker quite regularly in the ocean region. So has been wrestling his name, for losing because homebred referees decide otherwise. That sort of refereeing eventually will put the glove sport out of business in the coast country. The difference altogether too bare that the game isn't on the square. The belief that is a referee is incompetent or is inked will quickly cure a fight fan of his habit of paying good money to see his favorite. Once cured, he generally stays cured and boxing is out on the rails.)

Phillips Columbus Champion at Chess

COLUMBUS, Neb., April 28. — Bert J. Phillips won the play-offs championship in a post-tournament series of games with Al C. Smith after the two men had played to a tie in the annual city tournament.

Six games were required to settle the title, each winning two of the first four and the fifth going to a draw.

"Kid Handler" Johnny Morrison watched a wonderful curve for the world champion Pirates against the Cubs. He was touched for two hits, only one of which was good. The other came in the ninth inning when a high wind came up and blew a fly ball away from Barnhart.

Collected Expenses For His Relatives At Kansas Relays Meet.

NEW YORK, April 28.—(AP)—Charley Hoff, champion pole vaulter, apparently is open to censure by the A. A. U. because expenses of his relatives were paid on a tour.

Dr. Forrest C. Allen, director of athletics at the University of Kansas, has revealed that the expenses of Mrs. Hoff and of Hoff's brother-in-law, J. A. Dunn, and wife, were paid while Hoff was at the Kansas relays.

The rules of the amateur athletic union forbid payment of traveling expenses of any kind for manager, trainer, rubber, friend or relative, except chaperones for girl swimmers.

Secretary Frederick W. Rubien is continuing his investigation.

GRAIN MARKETS.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Ill., April 28.

Increasingly serious reports of dry weather in the American and Canadian northwest contributed to an upward trend in the wheat market today especially during the last part of the board of trade session. Complaints of crop deterioration were also coming from Nebraska and parts of Kansas. On the other hand, no new export demand for North American wheat was in evidence, although free buying of future deliveries at Winnipeg was credited to exporters.

Wheat closed firm, ¾@¾c net higher. Corn closed unchanged to ⅛c up and oats at ⅝@½c gain.

WHEAT—Fresh strength developed in wheat prices today after a wavering start. Smallness of reserves of old wheat and absence of growing weather in the spring crop belt were cited as reasons which tended to encourage buyers and to lift values. Reports of heavy frost in Kansas and of 5 to 10 per cent damage from high winds in Nebraska were also given attention. Opening prices, unchanged to ⅝c off, May (new) $1.65⅞@1.66¾ and July $1.43@1.43⅜, were followed by a fractional sag all around and then by upturns to well above yesterday's finish.

CORN—Corn and oats paralleled the action of wheat. After opening unchanged to ⅝c lower, July 77⅛@77¼c, the corn market underwent a slight general setback and then scored gains.

OATS—Oats started at ⅛c decline to an equal advance, July 42⅝c, and later hardened a little.

PROVISIONS—In line with hog values the provision market was firm.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 28.

Encouraged by the action of the directors of the United States Steel corporation in placing the common stock on a regular 7 per cent basis which was widely construed as evidence of continued prosperity operators in the long side resumed their campaign for high prices in today's market despite sporadic bear selling in various sections of the list. Buying orders were well distributed but the steels equipments motors and foods gave the best demonstrations of group strength. Despite the announcement that freight car loadings in the week ended April 17 were more than 40000 above the corresponding week of last year and that the net operating income of the first 57 railroads to report their March earnings totaled nearly $75,000,000 as against only $58,000,000 in the same month last year, speculative interest in the railroad shares was confined to a relatively few issues. "Big Four" scared ten points and Atlantic Coast Line and Pacific preferred each advanced a point, which jumped ½ point to 115½, a new top, was in anticipation of merger developments. Other outstanding strong spots were Pullman, Midland, Steel Products, preferred, DuPont and General Electric all up 3 to 4 points. Savage Arms lost nearly three points in an outbreak of selling in the early afternoon.

A brisk upturn in prices today reflected the stock market's response to the establishment of U. S. Steel common on a regular $7 annual dividend basis. An initial sale of 5,000 shares of U. S. Steel took place at 122¾, an overnight gain of more than a point, with General Electric, General Motors, May Stores, Coca Cola and other representative industrials rolling with advances of 1 to 2½ points. Big Four jumped 5 points to 210. The closing was strong. Sales approximated 1,250,000 shares.

LIVESTOCK MARKETS.

By the Associated Press.

OMAHA, Neb., April 28.

CATTLE—Receipts, 9,000. Under the influence of continued liberal supply and somewhat urgent demand, steers sold more slowly today at prices unevenly steady to 10 to 15c lower. Quality was not outstanding and there were no early sales above $9.40. She stock opened about steady, but was also a little less active than yesterday. Stockers and feeders were scarce and prices unchanged.

Closing: Fed steers and yearlings slow, steady to weak; spots 10 to 15c lower; bulk, $8.25@9.25; medium weights and weighty steers, $9.40; she stock fully steady; bologna bulls, 10@15c higher; veals strong to 50c higher; stockers and feeders steady; bulk butcher cows, $6.00@7.00; heifers, $7.75@8.75; bologna bulls, $6.25@6.50; few $6.60; practical top veals, $10.00; few $10.50; stockers and feeders, $8.00@8.50.

HOGS—Receipts, 9,000. An urgent demand that was apparent from shippers for the better grades of light hogs resulted in a 15 to 25c advance in these classes. Others and packing grades while a little slower to move, showed upturns of 10 to 15c. Bulk of sales was $11.85@12.75; top, $13.00.

Closing: Active, all classes 15 to 25c higher; desirable 160 to 210 pound weights, $12.65@12.85; top $13.00; good 210 to 250 pound butchers $12.40@12.60; bulk 250-300 pound butchers, $12.15@12.40; bulk butchers, 300 pounds up $11.90@12.15; packing sows mostly, $10.75@11.00; bulk of all sales, $12.00@12.75; average cost Tuesday, $11.98; weight, 271.

Grain Notes

CHICAGO, April 28.—(AP)—Latest spring seeding does not necessarily mean small crops, it is pointed out by one observer. Records of the last twenty-five years show that in general, crop yields have averaged slightly higher in late springs than in years when seeding was early.

Lack of moisture is the most important cause of wheat crop loss, being responsible for 48 per cent of all losses, it is claimed. Plant diseases cause 13 per cent of the loss; frost or freezing and water killing 12 per cent; excessive moisture, 9 per cent, insects and pests 8 per cent and other causes, 10 per cent.

The frost predicted for parts of Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas would probably do little damage since grain is not sufficiently advanced in growth.

New York Sugar.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, April 28.

SUGAR—Prices were unchanged in the raw sugar market early today at 2.41c, duty paid. No sales were reported.

An easier undertone prevailed in raw sugar futures and prices at midday were 1 to 2 points lower, under trade and commission house selling, although the volume of business was smaller.

Continued good inquiry was reported for refined sugar at unchanged prices, which ranged from 5.30 to 5.60c for fine granulated.

Sugar futures closed easy; approximate sales, 45,000 tons; May, 2.44c; July, 2.56c; September, 2.67c; December, 2.77c; January, 2.75c.

Alleged Thief And Victim To Face Charges

Jack McLarin will be charged with auto theft and some action will be taken against Audley Fenstermacher for the alleged removal of a mortgaged car from the state of Texas, police said Wednesday, after investigating the two men who came in contact with them by McLarin's theft of Fenstermacher's car.

Charges against McLarin will be filed, Deputy County Attorney Farley Young said.

A telegram was received Tuesday afternoon from authorities at Panhandle, Tex., stating that Fenstermacher removed the car while it was held under mortgage. They advised the police to return the man unless he made payment. He is held at the city jail.

Neither of the two men would have fallen into trouble had McLarin not taken the car while Fenstermacher was in a restaurant here Monday night. The two had traveled together from Oklahoma.

Fenstermacher reported the theft to police and McLarin was caught in Ashland by police there. He was on his way to Omaha, he said.

Seek To Enjoin Assessment For Building Bridge

The injunction suit by which Flora and Edna Bullock hope to keep the city of Lincoln from assessing property near Thirty-fifth street and the Missouri Pacific tracks for part of the cost of the railroad bridge at that place went on trial Wednesday morning before District Judge Sewart.

The council created an improvement district in 1920, the plaintiffs set out, and six months later ordered that the bridge be built. A piece of land 200 feet long and 66 feet wide, the ground on which the bridge now stands, was purchased by the city for $10,000 with the understanding that a modern bridge was to be erected.

After the bridge had been put up and the city council was talking of assessing the $10,000 against property owners in the improvement district, protests were made and the council decided to assess only $5,000 against the property owners, it is alleged. This means that assessments of from $28 to $7 a lot were made.

The plaintiffs claim that there is no authorization to pay for bridges by special levy that the proceedings merely were designed to gain possession of a right of way for Thirty-fifth street and that no special levies are authorized in such a case; that the property of the plaintiffs is not benefitted; and that the charter of the city of Lincoln is null and void because it was not prepared, proposed, ratified, adopted and filed in a proper manner.

City Engineer Dave Erickson was first called to the stand to testify concerning the boundaries of the district. He said he thought the bridge is worth $19,000. City Clerk Theo Berg outlined the legal procedure under which the district was formed, the improvement ordered in and the assessmants made. made. Deputy City Attorney Wilke is representing the city, while George Mann and J. C. Whitten appear for the plaintiffs.

Coming Events

The woman's board of the Bryan Memorial hospital will meet at 2:30 p. m., Thursday at the Y. W. C. A. parlor to discuss plans for the opening on May 20.

AGREEMENT WITH CZECHOS IS APPROVED

again carried to the white house. The administration is exceedingly anxious to get all debt settlements cleaned up. France's debt is the only one of importance still outstanding. The success that attended administration efforts to shove the Italian and Belgian pacts through the senate on the face of bitter economic and irreconcilable opposition has served to whet the desire to push through a French agreement in the short time remaining of this congress.

Comment from Paris.

PARIS, April 28.—(I. N. S.)—If the United States debt funding commission rejects France's offer of initial payments of $30,000,000 a year during the period of the partial moratorium, Ambassador Berenger will be forced to ask for new instructions or break off negotiations, it was learned today.

Ambassador Berenger was instructed to offer no more than $30,000,000 annually and his initial offer of $25,000,000 was for purposes of trading.

The ambassador's instructions also provide for a partial moratorium of five years.

As yet M. Berenger has not asked for new instructions.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

What Will The Record Be?

Dear Minerva: And He said unto another, 'Follow me." But he said, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father."' Jesus said unto him, Let the dead bury their dead; but go thou and preach the Kingdom of God. And another also said, "Lord, I will follow thee, but let me first go and bid them farewell which are at home at my house." And Jesus said unto him, "No man, having put his hand to the plough, and looking back, is fit for the Kingdom of God."

Does that explain why this earth is afflicted with criminal negligence?

The Master is calling for reapers,
The harvest field's golden with grain,
Oh, woman, go forth to the gleaning
All day in His service remain.

"Go teach,"—'tis the voice of the Master,
"Be instant in season and out.
Contend for the faith once delivered,
And gird thee with truth roundabout.

"I have made thee a watchman in Zion,
The wicked to warn from his way;
If thou warnest him not, he will perish,
But his blood I'll require in that day."

"The Master will have to excuse me,"
She lifts up a petulant face.
"I'm rushed with my housework and canning,
And baby's dress needs some new lace.

"How can He expect a tired mother,
Worn out with the cares of the day,
To turn from her baking and mending,
And try to save souls? Does it pay?

"It's hasten from sunrise to sunset
The work of a woman's ne'er done,
There's washing and scrubbing and dusting,
A thousand things only begun.

"There's seldom a moment for reading,—
My Bible is covered with dust.
The talents He gave in life's morning
Have slowly grown covered with rust.

"I can't take the time to be holy—
I know that I ought, but you see
There's never a rest for the weary,
From labor I never am free.

"I rise with the lark in the morning,
But I cannot retire with the sun,
With a husband and family to mother,
My tasks are forever undone.

"Sometimes I grow weary—so weary,
I wish I could cast off all care,
And lay down my burdens forever,
Escape from life's toil and snare.

"And if I but pause for a moment,
I'm sure to hear wails of woe—
Some hint that my duty's neglected—
A charge that I'm lazy or slow."

She paused from her labors to study
The "Style Hints" from over the sea,
And spent many moments in tatting,
Or in bridge at some afternoon tea.

But she "never found time" for the Master,
Thought she found time to frivol and dance;
She "never had time" for the vineyard,
Or the feeding of God's lambs, perchance.

She died—with her tasks still unfinished,
She died—ah, the story's not new.
But wha tof her soul in the judgment?
Will her good deeds be many or few?

Will her record on earth be "Found Wanting?"
Or will he be one of the throng
Who will hear the "well done" of the Master,
And break into paens of song?

She was one of the Marthas, encumbered
With serving and manifold cares.
Who knows? Who dares judge as to whether
The hope of the ransomed she shares?

The Master is calling for reapers,
The golden grain gleams in the sun;
Oh, brother, go forth to the gleaning,
And gather the sheaves one by one.

"I have need of thy help in my vineyard,
Lovest thou me? Feed my sheep.
See, they wander afar. There are lost ones;
Go seek them. Wake the sleepers from sleep.

"I have made thee a watchman in Zion,
The wicked to warn from his way.
If thou warnest him not he will perish,
But his blood I'll require in that day."

"The Master will have to excuse me,"
He turns in impatience away.
"I've no time to waste; I'm too busy.
He must wait a less strenuous day.

"I have oceans of work at the office;
Accounts to file, figures to add.
I must labor to live, I must labor to earn,
If I don't, things will go to the bad.

"There's appointments to keep; there's deals to put through,
A stockholders' meeting at nine.
My business is urgent, and life's a grand rush,
There's no time for religion in mine."

He paused from his labors to study
The golf rules laid down by his club,
And many an hour on the golf links
He played against Dough, Dobbs, or Dubb.

He "never had time" for the Master,
Though he found time to frivol and play.
He "never had time" for the winning of souls,
It was "not in his line" anyway.

He died—and the papers extolled him
As "one of the knights of the earth,"
He died—and the flowers heaped upon him!
Spoke of riches and honors and worth.

But I wonder—when life's cares were over,
And the burden of life he laid down—
Will the portals of glory swing open?
Will there be any stars in his crown?

Will his record on earth be "Found serving?"
Or will it be blotted and blurred?
Will it merit the gold seal of service,
Or the "well done" that Lazarus heard?"

—ARDENT.

"Unto Others."

Dear Minerva: Really I nearly boiled over after reading the letter from "Virtuous Wife," and feel that I must have my little say. Who in this wide world do you think you are, Virtuous Wife, that you should judge this woman and man whom you say have lived in sin for twenty years? Why, Jesus Christ, the most wonderful man that ever trod the globe, wouldn't judge the woman whose sins were like scarlet, but said "Those among you who are without sin cast the first stone," and all that were standing near him left. Why? Because we all have our secret sins that we wouldn't want the world to know.

Yes, you are one of us, "Virtuous Wife," as adultery is not the only sin. You had better turn the light on your own consciousness and find how many of the commandments you are breaking.

I cannot believe, "Virtuous Wife" that you are a mother or you would want to see that poor child have a name, and I for one hope he, the husband, gets the divorce. What does the wife hold him for? Nothing but spite and I don't think she has an ounce of decency and that she is the worse of the two. Just think the price "the other woman" has paid for loving this man. Yes, it is sad, but true, that she will go on paying the fullest price. Why? Because the woman has always had to pay from the time of Eve, and you, "Virtuous Wife," are just one of the many that make such things hard to bear. That woman is as good as you are and her living may be a lot better. She, perhaps, wouldn't say such unkind things about a dog, let alone a human being.

Now I want to add that I am mother of two perfect children and have a very happy, harmonious home and if the time should come for me to sacrifice my husband to some other woman he had wronged I pray to God to give me the strength and decency to do the think that would protect an illegitimate child.

"Do unto others as ye would have them do unto you," and that is what I try to do each day.

I think, "Virtuous Wife," that it wouldn't have hurt you to try it.

Thanking you for the space, and may I add that your column is always of great interest to me, and you surely use tact in answering the many letters. A TRUE WIFE AND MOTHER.

The Adolescent Child.

A call is being made for new discussions in the Mail, and recently a mother asked for opinions upon the modern school system and its effects upon modern children. I hope the parents and teachers will respond to this call with their ideas on the various phases of the subject.

Recently a booklet reached this department from the congress of parents and teachers national office, Washington, D. C., containing a very interesting study circle upon the adolescent child. Some of the stimulating questions contained in this booklet I am passing on to you, parents and teachers:

"If the adolescent child is apt to be independent in his thinking, is self-assertive and critical, how can we help him to formulate a correct attitude?

"If the adolescent thinks withthe crowd, how can we stimulate him to activity in individual thinking?

"If the adolescent feels that he must part with an old faith, how can we start him on a new one?

"Should young people be treated as intellectual equals with their elders and be allowed to enter in the family counsels?

"How can parents eradicate the faults and pernicious doctrine found in the writings of some so-called popular novelists that sex repression is a bad thing?

"What can we answer a boy who has good morals and no polish and who says 'It's the smooth guy that gets by?'

"Is the wearing of one-piece bathing suits, the smoking of cigarettes, rouging of the face and rolling of stockings on the part of the girl a question of morals, manners or good taste?

"What do you think, parents?"—MINERVA.

TAKE NATURE'S TONIC EVERY MORNING

Thousands have stopped headache in the morning, dullness, lassitude, unpleasant breath, etc., with California lemon juice in hot water, taken every morning first thing on getting out of bed.

Meat, fish and eggs and starchy foods are acid in reaction in the blood. Lemon, although known as "acid fruit," is alkaline in its reaction in the blood. So if you eat eggs every morning you should take California lemon juice, especially if you are troubled with "acidity" or "high blood pressure."

Try it for ten days and note results—the juice of one California lemon in hot water every morning without fail.

A Dutch Luncheon.

Harriett: A novelty in the way of entertainment is a Dutch luncheon (not a Dutch lunch) which I think will appeal to you.

Small white cards make the invitations and in the left-hand corner of each sketch a windmill. The date, address and name of the hostess should appear on the right-hand corner of the card.

For the center of the luncheon table, have a mass of brilliant tulips, red and yellow ones, or any favorite color. Place the tulips in a low Dutch bowl, or little pots of single blossoms may be arranged in a circle, alternating two colors. If you use the circle, place inside it a windmill, made of molasses cake and dark brown paper. This is surprisingly easy to make. Bake two ordinary molasses cakes in molds the required size. The larger cake should have a base of six or eight inches and the smaller one should fit above so that the windmill tower stands about ten inches tall. The fans of the mill are cut from brown paper and attached so that they will whirl in a breeze. For steps use fresh wafers, and let the mill rest on moss.

4¢ to guard your $100 weekly wash

COUNT up their cost as you sort them over. With your husband's shirts costing $2 apiece (at least 3 in the wash every week) his underwear $2, pajamas $3, your housedresses $4.50 each, nightgowns $2, the children's rompers $3, sheets $2 apiece and so on—you'll find there's more than $100 worth of clothes all told in your wash each week. Probably twice that much!

The old, harsh laundry soap, which seemed good enough when clothes cost less, now must go. You can't afford to let it wear out any more clothes in the washing.

It's a real economy to treat your entire Monday's laundry like fine fabrics! For 4¢ more than harsh soap costs you give all your clothes Lux protection—save dollars in wash-day wear and tear!

And as for your hands—you can hardly believe such a difference possible. Lux suds are as caressing as the finest toilet soap! Wash the whole laundry in Lux next Monday. For your protection Lux is sold only in the familiar blue packages, plainly marked LUX—two sizes, enough in the big new one for two average washings! Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

P. S. In hard water it actually costs less to use Lux because it takes so little to get rich, cleansing suds.

How radiantly clean the rich, creamy, Lux suds leave all your clothes—your entire Monday's laundry. How much longer these costly things last when you treat them like fine fabrics!
